[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, (D. C.,) Nov. 17 .-[Exclusive Dispatch.] Secretary of Agriculture Wilson today gave the Times corre the policy of the administration regarding the Philippines. Various Republican Senators and Representatives have taken pains to announce their opposition to the annexation of the Philippines without apparently knowing what President McKinley and his Cabinet or the members of the Peace Commission, who are now in active charge of these affairs, intend doing. There is to be no annexation of the Philippines; there is no intention of annexing them; they are not to become a part of the American body politic in any way; they are not to be a territory or colony of the United States in the common acceptance of those terms. In Secretary Wilson's words: "No name has yet been found for the position the Philippines are to eccupy toward the United States. I myself call it insular possession, but even that is not a very good name." Secretary Wilson

President McKinley is as firm in the belief that the Filipinos should not become American citizens as anybody else. He will see that they do not become citizens; he will see that there is no chance of their acquiring statehood, which might follow if we annexed the islands as we annexed Hawaii. must be simply, a transaction in real estate.

A Cabinet member said today that Spain had been informed that the United States wants a part of the Caroline group, and is willing to pay for whatever is taken, if the price can be agreed upon by the commissioners. All Spain wants is money for use at home. If she can get it by the sale of the Carolines, ahe, would gladly part with them, and the money for their sale would compensate somewhat for the loss of the Philippines.

imerican Commissioners Prepa to Spott Spain's Case. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PARIS, Nov. 17.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The clerical force of the American Peace Commission was busy nearly all night in translating the Spanish memorandum presented at yesterday's joint session. While the translators and typewriters were rendering the Spanish argument into printed English, counsel for the American Commission studied it sheet by sheet, making notes of records to be examined and of law points bearing on the matter in hand. As a result, when the Americans gathered for the daily session today, the Spanish presentment lay before them in English, ready for consideration and accompanied by data bearing upon it. No unofficial person knows the contents of the document presented by the Spanish commissioners yesterday, but it is safe to assume that added to Spain's insistence on the reservation of her Philippine sovereignty and her proposition to artitrate the construction of the third article of the protocol, Spain has made two other important statements:

Spain has made two other important

First—That on the high ground of financial probity she cannot allow any discussion here of the validity of her action in pledging the resources of the Philippines for the payment of the Philippine debt.

Second—That in connection with the American proposal to reimburse. Spain for her pacific expenditures in the Philippines, she cannot admit of any inquiry as to how she spent the proceeds of the loans based on the Philippine pledges.

If Spain has assumed this attitude, and it is believed she has done so, she and it is believed she has done so, she practically compels the American commissioners to consider at least the entire Philippine debt, and its assumption by the United States or by the Philippine Islands as a condition to Spain's amiable surrender of her sov-ereignty over these islands. It is difficult to understand how the Americans can reply to this in any other manner than by strictly outlining other manner than by strictly outlining their position and giving the Spaniards a time limit in which to accept the propositions of the United States. But the American commissioners may pa-tiently continue their endeavors to ar-

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 .- The admin istration feels encouraged over the out-look for a successful termination of the labors of the Peace Commissioners in Paris. Whether the renewed confiden is based upon an abstract of the Span-ish reply which was submitted at yes-terday's meeting, or is founded upon rivate advices indicating a weakening but it is probable that both of th an influence in brightening the pros-pects. The Spanish reply was no sur-prise to the American commissioners, who, in fact, had prepared themselve who, in rance with instructions received directly from the President and Secretary Hay for a complete answer. Still, it was probably regarded as better policy, and more in accord with the amenities of official exchange that the Americans should do the Suanish commisicans should do the Spanish comers the courtesy of giving deliberpared written argument

But with all due intent to give prope weight to the Spanish representations, it must be said that up to this point they have had very little effect in innuencing the American Commissioners, not because of any obstinate disregard ple reason that almost every one of the points made by the Spanish commis-sioners have been anticipated in the reparation of the American case, no mail tribute to the acumen and diligence of Judge Day and Secretary John Moore.

The attempt of the Spaniards to induce the Americans to accept their construction of the meaning of the protocol, where it touches on the Philippines, has been a flat failure. The President himself was party to the preparation of the protocol. It was he, who, suspecting a purpose on the Spanish side to becloud the Issue and leave open a door for future eacape from the consequences of the war, had swept aside, as so much chaff, the message of the Spanish president. Duke Almodovar de Rios, and reducing the demands of the United States to what is called a precise, had declared that the Spanish government might accept that as an exact statement of the demands of the United States. Having made the document, the President believes himself to be the person to be best competent to construe its meaning, and the American commissioners are consequently acting most strenuous efforts to assert their sovereignty over the Philippines, all based upon the use of the word "dis-position" instead of "possession" in that part of the protocol relating to the future of the Philippines, it may be stated that the American commissionfor the Spanish government in arrang his instance, amounted to nothing; was of no significance in English, or as af-fecting the object aimed at, but was made merely because it sounded better in Spanish, and would not be humiliat-ing to the Spanish. Consequently the American commissioners could not for an instant think of allowing the sin ity of the French Ambassador to drawn into question.

British preferential stopped, it will be greater than any reciprocity agree-ment. The debate thus far has encouraged the American commissioners to believe that they will succeed in having the preferential wiped out.

The fisheries question is of long standing, and aside from its import ance to the commerce of the New England and Canadian coast, it is said to give the basis for a possible serious conflict between this country and Great Britain. Wearled by the length of the controversy, Canada of late has inticontroversy, Canada of late last lines mated that in case it remained open recourse might be taken to the seizure of American fishing vessels in Canadian waters. This doubtless would lead dian waters. This doubtless would lead the complications. to serious international complications. This has been the view of the members of the commission, and as a result they are exceedingly anxious to secure a settlement of this question.

It is understood that there is some likelihood of a commission of American, Canadian and English lawyers beof the treaty of 1818, which govern these fishery rights. The suggestion of this international body had come, it is said, from Lord Herschell. Such a body appointed, it would do away with the chances of any collision occurring between the Canadian officials and American fishing vessels during the approaching fishing season.

A high Canadian official today stated the Canadian view of the fisheries question as follows:

question as follows:

"The international commission will have a serious difficulty to settle the North Atlantic fisheries question. The position of the Canadian government is not, I think, very well understood in the United States. The treaty of 1818 provides, roughly speaking, that the United States shermen shall not have access to the inhabited coasts of the Canadian scaboard. On those coasts American fishermen are not entitled to land, save for four purposes specifically named in the treaty, namely, for wood, water, shelter and repairs.

"The object of the treaty was obviously to give Canadians exclusive control of their own coasts as a base of operations for carrying on the fisheries. Such has been the Canadian interpretation ever since the treaty was accommodated and the United States has accommodated and the United States has accommodated.

subjects which are regarded as of most importance, namely, the North Atlantic fisheries and reciprocity. The fisheries question was practically taken up for the first time, and it was quite definitely understood that the position of the Canadian government was made clear as favoring granting enlarged rights to American fishermen in Canadian waters of the North Atlantic, if, in return, Canadian fish are admitted free of duty to American markets. It is expected that this will open a wide range of discussion, and an immediate adjustment is not looked for.

Concerning reciprocity, it has now developed that while some progress is being made in considering certain articles which will be the basis of reciprocity, yet the American commissioners are likely to insist, as a preliminary to any reciprocity, that Canadis shall wipe out that feature of ber fariff law which gives Great Britain a preference of 25 per cent. on all tariff duties. If this important concession is made by Canada and concurred in by Lord Herschell, who is looking after the interests of Great Britain, the opinion is very positively expressed that a reciprocity agreement cannot be reached. [ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 .- Dr. For wood continued his testimony befor wood continued his testimony beforethe War Investigating Commission today, concerning conditions at Montauk Point, where he was chief army surgeon. He said that from the beginning to the end of the history of the general hospital at Camp Wikoff there never was a time when there were not from fifty to five hundred vacant beds. Many patients were sent away to hospitals in neighboring cities, largely in respot se to public clamor. The patients taken away were largely typhoid cases, and were selected chiefly because it was believed not wise to allow typhoid cases to accumulate at Montauk. Another reason was the necessity of extending the hospital accommodations.
During the first thirty days of the history of the camp, 9000 patients were treated, and it would have been out of the question to take care of them all in the camp hospitals. Speaking of the nurses, he said there was a considerable number of hospital corps men who the War Investigating Commission to able number of hospital corps men who had been trained in the post hospitals before the female nurses arrived. This was limited training, but it rendered the men much more efficient than any otherwise would have been.

DR. WOOD A "KICKER." [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] wood said that he had expected typhoid fever would break out in the hospital, but he never had expected that the troops would remain there long enough to cause an epidemic of medicines and medical supplies at all times-a wasteful abundance in fact. Connor read a letter from Maj. Wood, a regular army surgeon, dated at Montauk in August, complaining that there was a pressing want of medicines, and that the camp was in a deplorable condition. Dr. Forwood said that Dr. Wood was disappointed because he did not get a leave of absence immediately after arriving from Cuba, which he had asked for, notwithstanding his services were needed and he was in good physical needed and he was in good physical condition. Gen. Wheeler had refused to grant this request.

"From that time," said Dr. Forwood, "he was constantly 'kicking' and 'bucking,' He was disgruntled and disloyal, and found fault with everything. For instance, he said the well water was polluted, declaring he would not take a drink of it for $5."

A dispatch was read from Gen. Wheeler, saying that Dr. Wood had falled to secure medicines only because

Dr. Stimson had spoken of the conduct of the kitchens. As a matter of fact the kitchens were in the most expert hands. Miss Helen Gould had supplied a number of chefs, and most to these were from the kitchens of these were from the kitchens of these were from the kitchens of the wealthlest people of New York City. He had talked with one of them who had been with W. H. Vanderbilt for more than three years. As a matter of fact, the hospitals were never so abundantly supplied. The army rations were supplemented by everything that could be found in the larder of the Waldorf-Astoria, including roast turkey, pheasants, squabs, lambs, sheep, pigs, game of all kinds, pate de fois gras, mineral waters, the finest champagnes and liquors. At one time he had noticed eight barrels of brandy and a large number of cases of wine. There was so much apollinaris water that it was in the way, and when a nurse came for a bottle they would offer her a case.

He said the newspaper men at the camp were gentlemen, but they appeared to be under orders to criticise the camp. He knew of two instances when the reporters had received orders to "roast everything." He had told them not to spare where they found criticism justified. In conclusion, Dr. Forwood said that many patients who had been removed by their friends had often died, and that in many instances their deaths were due to the kindness of friends who had taken them in charge.

Mai-Gen. S. B. Young was before the commission at its afternoon session, relating in detail his experience at Santiago and vicinity, and afterward at Montauk. He said he had landed at Baiquiri on the 21st of June, and that by the morning of the 23d his entire brigade had been put ashore. He der's door saying that he must not be disturbed. He had, therefore, proceeded without the Cubans. After the fight was over, however, some of the Cubans had come, up under the command of a Frenchman, who saluted very tragically with his saber, saying that he had been ordered by Gen. Castillo to follow the enemy and fight him wherever he could find him.

Gen. Young said he simply ordered the Cubans to the rear, and the only service they had performed was to gather up the baggage that the American soldiers had discarded. Gen. Young said he had been the only man in the command at La Quasina who was mounted, and that he rode a mule. He carried no baggage except a rubber slicker, a pajama and a toothbrush. The wounded were carried back to Siboney, and while the hospital was somewhat congested, the men were well attended to.

DOCKING FACILITIES.

The Pacific Coast Should Have Southern Station.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—In his an nual report to the Secretary of the Navy, Chief Endicott of the Bureau o Yards and Docks makes a strong poin of the necessity for ample docking cilities, not only for small vessels

Royal, S. C., 148,000; Rey West, $112,-520; Mare Island, $851,750; Puget Sound, $53,500.

Treating of this last station, Puget Sound, Chief Endicott says that if it be important to equip a first-class naval station in that vicinity, a new site should be selected, for the present has none of the desiderat of a good naval station. There is no near-by population to draw upon for skilled labor; no avallable market and no direct railroad connection with a trunk line. Under these conditions, it is said to be doubtful if it be wise to build a large station at this point.

The report also comments upon the fact that no battleship or heavy-draught cruiser has yet approached the wharves at Mare Island, and says it remains to be demonstrated that it remains to be demonstrated that this location as a navy yard was a fortunate one. Attention is called to the fact that the Oregon was compelled to go 800 miles north to Puget Sound to be docked. While the government could construct ample dock facilities on San Francisco Bay, this would still be 450 miles north of the southern boundary of the United States, where it is quite as important to have a naval station as on the northern boundary at Puget Sound. Therefore it is recommended that a board of experienced officers be directed to give attention to the establishment of such a station near the southern limits of the Pacific Coast.

URGENT DEFICIENCY. Legislation Needed to Provide for War Expenditures.

TASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT 1 WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.-Chairma annon of the Appropriations Commit. tee of the House has called a meeting of the sub-Committee on Deficiencies to meet Saturday, November 26, to consider the estimates for the maintenance of the extraordinary expenses of the army and navy during the period of the army and navy during the period from January 1, 1899, to July 1, 1899. It will be necessary to frame and enact an Urgent Deficiency Bill to provide for these expenditures before the holiday recess, as the balance of $226,000.000 and the original $50,000,000 appropriated to carry on the war are not available after December 31.

Whatever remains of these appropriations must be conveyed back into the treasury on that date. How much has been expended is not known, but the presumption is there is a considerable balance, as the appropriations were estimated to cover the pay account for the full complement of 234,000 soldiers, provided for in the two calls of the President, and also for the temporary increase of the regular army. Neither the volunteers nor regulars were enlisted up to their full strength, and about 10,000 of the former have been mustered out of the service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — The movement of the United States troops to Havana province will begin within ten days. The exact date of their arrival will be determined by the reports of Maj.-Gen. Greene, who commands a division of the Seventh Corps and is now in Havana on business connected with garrisoning that province, and of Gen. Charles Humphrey and Col. Hecker of the quartermaster's department. The conduct of the volunteer regiment in Santiago province may result in a transfer of some of these troops to corps where a more rigid discipline can be enforced, and where regiments under command of general officers can be used to quell any disturbances of the immune regiments.

After the banquet the feature of the evening was the introduction of a memorial to Congress by Hon. John Herriott of Stuart, Treasurer of the State.
The preamble to this memorial calls attention to the recognition which the Merrimac's crew has received, and says that it is of special pride to Merrimac was an Iowa boy. It then states that it is Deignan's desire to enter the Navai Academy at Annapolis, but he is prevented by age requirements. The resolution then asks the members of Congress to pass a special act to permit. Deignan to enter the academy. The resolution was received and adopted with cheers. Short and appropriate speeches were made.

Instead of making a speech, Deignan produced the baotswain's whistle which he used on the Merrimac, and after he had given examples of the signals used, he presented it to the club. Deignan left at 9:35 p.m. on the

COLORED MASS MEETING. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 .- A mass meet of their race in some of the Southern States was held tonight in Cooper Union. As a precautionary measure. trict, there has been a considerable amount of anti-negro sentiment. This precaution, however, was not at all necessary, as the gathering, although enthusiastic at times, was a very peace-people, with a sprinkling of whites. A number of prominent white citizens sent letters commending the object of the meeting. During a tedious weit for the speakers, a white man, with long, flowing hair, arose in his seat in the center aisle and ahoutei. "Oh. if we only had William Lloy! Garrison, a Wendell Phillips, or an Abraham Lincoln at this time."

Wendell Phillips, or an Abraham Lincoln at this time:"
This evoked great applause. Thomas Fortune appeared on the stage a few minutes later and took the presiling officer's chair. In a longthy address he told of the race troubles in the South. Ebbenezer D. Bassett, formerly Minister to Hayti, also spoke.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the "rioting and revolution which have disgraced the States of North Carolina and South Carolina," censuring the Governors of those States for their failure to suppress the outbreaks against the negroes, and for their failure to invoke the aid of the Federal authorities, if they found themselves unable to cope with the conditions, and insisting that the just rights of all citizens under the Constitution, shall be respected.

The resolutions further recite that the States of Mississippl. South Carolina and Louisiana have by Constitutional action disfranchised more than half their population, and demand that the basis of representation of these

Nothing was definitely settled at yesterday's joint session regarding the question of fixed and movable property, and it is understood that the subject will be referred to the respective governments for consideration. The Spanish troops will carry their small arms, colors, field pieces and the entire equipment of an army in the field.

troops in the island. A depot for quartermaster of the United States, who dear the work. This morning the pier and wharf were inspected by Gen. Greene, Gen. Humphreys and Col. Hecker, who expressed themselves as satisfied with the work.

In the course of the next fortnight work will be commenced under Col. Hecker's directions upon a railroad from Casa Blanca, on the east side of Havana Bay, to Guanabacoa, where it is to connect with the track of the United Railroad, thus facilitating the transportation of commissary supplies. Gen. Greene will personally lay out the camps on each side of the Vento waterworks, beginning work immediately upon the arrival of the first cargo of timber.

The building of a railroad from Havana Bay to Guanabacoa indicates that the Marianao landing place is to be only a temporary makeshift.

Manual Sanguilly of the special commission from the Cuban Assembly at Santa Cruz del Sur, who left yesterday for the United States, was followed today by his colleagues, who went by the Seguranca. Gen. Calixto Garcia, at Capt.-Gen. Blanco's suggestion, was taken by a tug from Playa de Marianao to the Ward liner. This was to prevent any demonstration such as might have ensued had the Cuban special commissioner passed through Havana.

Many went on board the Seguranca to say farewell, and to wish the commissioner's success at Washington, No Cuban flags, however, were displayed in the harbor, and there was no disorder of any kind. Gen. Garcia said that he and his associates on the commission were very sanguine as to the outcome of their expected interview with President McKinley.

HAVANA QUIETER.

Majority of the Orden Publico Starts for Spain.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 .- A dispatch to ber of the Orden Publico for Spain, one of the principal elements of disorder is removed from the city. This body of picked men, better trained and more ent than the ordinary Spanis intelligent than the ordinary Spanish soldier, and with the bitterest feeling against the government, fell naturally into the place of the leaders of the movement which for the last week has kept the city in a state of constant anxiety. From them have come the directions to be followed in attempting to force the government to accede in the soldiers' wishes, and while the other camps implicated have been equally anxious as the Orden Publico to bring matters to a crisis, the initiative has been left entirely to the latter. Their prompt removal from the island was a step hardly contemplated by the mutineers, and has checked for the moment any immediate action on the part of other regiments. The government apparently believes that the trouble has been averted in the mean time, and that the danger of uprising at any moment has passed.

Streets which for weeks had presented the appearance of a besieged town have resumed almost a normal aspect. Soldiers camped at various points, who slept on their arms, and were ready to march at the bugle call, have been withdrawn to the "outskirts, leaving only sentries and those on picket duty. The city is still policed by soldiers and municipal guards, the guardia civil not having been allowed to resume its functions. The situation still presents an unsettled aspect. It has been discovered that many members of the Orden Publico, especially of the Fourth Company, escaped deportation by deserting and flying into the country. Several bands of these are now outside the city and soldiers are employed in hunting them down.

Another element of danger is the Cubans. Menocal's camp is situated about two hours' march or a half hour's ride by rail from Havana. On reports of the disturbances reaching him, he held his men in readiness to march on Havana and other foreign residents. A special detail has been provided to guard the Saloin Trocha, the residence of the American commissioners, in two hours march or a part consequences of such a movement would have been interest, panish authorities w

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Nov. 17.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Col. Ray, the American commander at Guantanamo, has reported that from that place he heard that the United States government ship Glacier had landed a number of men at the port Cayo del Toro, and had taken possession of two of the finest pleces of bronze cannon there. It was added that the men on the Glacier had also accidentally blown up the arsenal. Col. Ray went to Caimanera in order to investigate. There he saw Capt. Norman and the officers of the ship, who positively denied knowing anything regarding the cannon.

Col. Ray, however, said he had obtained his information from a reliable source, the British Consul being his informant, whereupon Capt. Norman admitted taking the guns and said he took them for the Secretary of the Navy. The captain refused to furnish any further information on the subject. and consequently it is not known whether he acted under orders from the Secretary of the Navy, or is merely making the Secretary a private present. Three similar guns have been asked for by the Navy Department as adornments for Annapolis, and the War Office granted the permission necessary. Capt. Chester of the Cincinnati will ship them north at the first opportunity. Col. Ray was at first inclined to demand the immediate return of the guns from the Glacier, but he decided to await instructions on the matter.

A corporal of the Third Immune Regiment at Guantanamo, who was detailed to assist in the free-ration distribution, has been discovered in coperation with some merchants of the town to have been swindling the government. Large supplies of bacon and meat were found to have disappeared, and caused Col. Ray to investigate the money value being over $1000, and three merchants who were acting with him. They are all under arrest.

Assuming the Americans might accept the modification pleaded for by Spain, he was asked if Lord Russell of England would be accepted to interpret the meaning of the protocol. Advices which Secretary Hay ceived last night from Paris have ceived last hight from Paris have en-couraged the authorities to believe the negotiations will be satisfactorily com-pleted at an early date. None of the authorities would talk about the contents of dispatches received, but there is said to be no doubt they have given the above impression, and the authorities are accordingly gratified over the outlook. The feeling in administration circles is that the Spanish will accede under protests of course to the desired of the course of the under protests, of course, to the de-mands of the American commission ers, and the commissioners in Paris ar ers, and the commissioners in Paris are simply delaying negotiations in the hope that something may turn up which will cause the United States to relinquish its demands respecting the eastern archipelago.

It was admitted yesterday by administration officials that instructions have been sent to the American commissioners to negotiate with the Spanish representatives for the cession of the island of Carolines to the United States, preferably Ualan. No demand will be made for the cession of the island, but Spain will be asked to sell it to this government, and it is not it to this government, and it is not expected that she will refuse. This island, as indicated a couple of days are in these dispatches, is quite essential to the successful laying of the Pacific cable.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Football enthusiasm, for, a long time lacking in the usual amount of ferver, is now at flood tide. Beginning with daybreak this morning at both universities and the office in this city where tickets are on sale there were long lines of men and boys waiting to purchase the first pasteboards which will entitle the holders to watch the annual gridiron struggle. ON STANFORD CAMPUS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today was the most enthusiastic football day ever witnessed on Stanford campus. In the afternoon the team had its last practice before leaving for a five days' outing at Congress Springs, and it succeeded in making it the best day of this season. Not only did the players do better than they have before, but the student body gave them such support as has never been given a team on Stanford campus by Stanford people. THE MAN OF THE WEEK.

JOSE SANTOS ZETIAYA.

The chances of the building of the Nicaragua Canal seem brighter than ever before. President José Santos Zelaya of the Nicaraugua republic, who has been actively interested in pushing the enterprise which will unite the two great oceans, is an enterprising, adventurous, shrewd, politic, brave, revolutionary Spanish-American gentleman, who is at home at the head of an army, or in a big transaction such as that he has just closed with Engineer Edwin F. Cragin of Chicago, and certain capitalists of New York. Zelaya was born in Managua and is 47 years old. He has large interests as a coffee planter, and is a man of advanced ideas. He has never been other than a Liberal in politics. The Conservatives have several times expelled him from the country, but he has won his way to the front by the absolute persistence of his character. Zelaya was educated in Paris, where he spent eight years of his life. He has been quite active at home and won the rank of general in his campaigns for the Liberals in the various States of South America, where he is one of the leading spirits of republicanism. The Bluefields incident brought the President into international prominence.

One of these states that the government of Nicaragua made certain concessions to the American syndicate company, subject to the approval of the Maritime Company. Another report was that these concessions would be granted if the government of Costa Rica would grant the syndicate some concessions which are necessary to the construction of the canal as proposed by the new syndicate. Costa Rica has not made these concessions, and so far as the State Department was able to learn, does not contemplate doing so. Secretary Hay does not deny the right of the government at Nicaragua to entertain the proposition of the American syndicate at the expiration of that granted to the Maritime Company, unless this government can shew good reason why the concession granted it should be extended. The feature of yesterday's session of the Knights of Labor convention at Chicago was an attack on Grand Master Workman Hicks by a New York delegate, who charged that the grand master had admitted an outsider to a meeting of the order in contravention of the constitution. When the delegates learned that the outsider was Mrs. Hicks, who chanced to be present during a part of the meeting simply because it was held at the residence of Hicks, they quickly disposed of the grievance, and the other business of the day was almost all of a routine character.

Enthusiasm for the evangelization of American civilization is the leading characteristic of the eighth annual convention of the Nettonal City Evangelization Union of the Methodiat Episcopal Church, which convened last evening in the Central Methodist Church at Detroit. A big audience was present, including about forty lay and ministerial delegates, representing the local unions of nearly all the larger cities of the United States. Some thirty local city unions are now established, having in some offices institutional churches, industrial schools, kindergariers, etc., and expending a total of $250,000 annually, supplied by individual contributions and churches.

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid in-crease of Heart Troubles.

HEART DISEASE.

Do Not Be Alarmed, but Look for the Heart troubles, at least among Americans, are certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often result of weak stomachs, of poor di-

Real, organic heart disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by branches of the same great nerves, the sympathetic and pneumogastric. In another way, also, the heart is affected by that form of poor digestion which causes gas and fermentation from half-digested food; there is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, makes it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

makes it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digsestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can best be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of atomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

A large number of Kwang-Si rebels are now taking refuge in the fastnesses in the mountains of Ngmashan, where a good many gunsmiths and blacksmiths are engaged in making arms. They intend to raise another rebellion. Koom Muk, the rebel chief, has recently been executed. Yung Un, a magistrate, pretended to be his friend and prepared a trap door in an opium dive, with concealed soldiers in the cellar underneath. While these two were peaceably smoking opium together, at a given signal from the mandarin, Koom Muk was precipitated into the cellar and dispatched by swords of the soldiers. According to previous accounts, Koom Muk has been represented as the saviour of Yung Un. Just before the mail left a disturbance broke out at Canton. The rioters attacked the settlement and inflicted injury on two members of the French consulate. Bome disquieting news has been received as to the health of the American troops at Manila. In addition to the great amount of malarial and typhold fever prevailing, malignant small pox has appeared. The deaths in the hospital will average about one hundred soldiers a month. There is a leper scare in Manila. Through the neglect of the Spanish officials, rearly two hundred lepers have escaped from confinement. For a time this was unknown to the American authorities, and the outcasts were allowed to wander at large. Orders have been issued to the effect that all lepers will be arrested and sent to a small, uninhabited island south of Luzon. On this island the American government will establish a harborage for the lepers of the Philippines. They will be fed and, cared for at the expense of the government. As far as can be ascertained, about sixty lepers are still at large on the streets and in the suburbs of Manila.

Latest advices from Bangkok stated that the Siamese government is in much consternation over the sudden departure of the French Minister from Bangkok, and there are grave fears that the crisis is likely to develop as soon as he returns. The reason for the minister's departure is that he demanded from the Siamese government the cession of certain land on Bangkok River, and the release of several Annamiles and Tong Kinez from prison. This demand was flatly retused by the Siamese government, the thereupon left Bangkok on the pretext of accompanying his wife home in consequence of illness.

VANCOUVER (B. C.,) Nov. 17.—According to late Oriental advices, there is trouble brewing between China and Thibet. A Yachow dispatch says: "The prefect of Yachow has arrived from Thibet, whither he was sent to settle up troubles following upon the Chang Tunglins' raid into Chan Tui and Derge last year. The whole raided district has been given over to Lhassa and Lama rule, a retrocession of anand Lama rule, a retrocession of annexed territory on the part of China that is as little comprehensible as the "abdication" of the Russians in Korea. There are those who say that China is apprehensive of the growing independence of the Lamas, and as the treaty between England and Thibet expires this year, she is afraid the Lamas may open a road for the British from Dariceling to Lhassa."

From Batavia comes news that the Dutch have recently passed a law which accords the Japanese residing in the Dutch colonies all the rank and privileges of Europeans.

PLANS FOR THE SEVENTH REGI MENT MONUMENT BENEFIT.

Not Merely an Exhibition Drill, but Representation of a Day's Life in Camp.

AN IMMENSE CROWD EXPECTED

THIRTY-FOUR OF THE FORTY PRI VATE BOXES SOLD.

What the Troops Are Doing at Camp Pratt-The Camp Thoroughly Policed-Improvement in the Food Supply.

the present encampment of the Seventh Regiment began the park had just been closed after an annual race meet, and there had been no effort to clean up the place. Cleanliness in a military camp is a sanitary necessity, and one of the first duties of the troops was to thoroughly police the camp. If the health of the command depends upon the general order and cleanliness of Camp Pratt there should not be a sick man in the regiment, for the rlace had undergone a complete transformtaion. Ordinarily in encampments of the National Guard, the men who are on guard duty today are excused from the routine duties tomorrow, but they are required to police the camp, but in addition there is special detail made from each of the companies every morning to do police work: that is, clean up the camp. As the work is greater than the relieved guard can possibly perform, the following general order with reference to police duties was issued yesterday: , HEADQUARTERS SEVENTH CALIFORNIA INFANTRY US VOIS The entertainment which the Seventh Regiment will give to the people of this and other cities in this part of the State on Thanksgiving day for the benefit of the soldiers' monument fund will not consist of an exhibition drill alone. It will be far more interesting than a simple drill by a regiment would be, although that alone would cause the attendance of thousands of visitors. Such a drill would soon be over, and many people who would like to see it might not find it convenient to go to the park at the hour set for the drill, if that were the only thing on th programme. Instead of only an exhibition drill, it is the intention of the regiment to give an entire afternoon's entertainment, all parts of which will be of interest.

The regiment will try in one afternoon to show the visitors what a day's work in camp is. All of the more important duties will be performed, all the daily ceremonies and all the drills, except of course the squad drills, for the Seventh is now a veteran command and does not have to hold squad drills.

and does not have to hold squad drills. The programme has been arranged by the committee of officers appointed to confer with the committees of the commercial bodies, who are looking after the other arrangements.

Promptly at 1:30 o'clock next Thursday afternoon reveille will be sounded, followed promptly by "assembly." The companies will assemble for roll-call as they do in the early morning when aroused by reveille.

Roll-call will be followed by the assembly of battallons and the formation of the regiment. The battallons will form near quarters, but the regimental formation will be completed in the open field, inside the race track.

The physical drill with arms, somewill form hear quarters, but the regimental formation will be completed in the open field, inside the race track. The physical drill with arms, something new, even to the members of the old Seventh, who remained at home, will be the next event. This drill, or more properly exercise, consists of the different movements with arms, to the time of quick music. The Seventh was the first regiment in camp at San Francisco to go through this drill as a regiment, and it became so proficient at it that whenever the drill was given there it always attracted a large crowd of spectators. Several general officers asserted that the Seventh's work in this exercise was the best there.

Of course the guard which is mounted at this exhibition will not go on duty, but the ceremony will be the same as that which takes place at the camp every morning. The guard details, under the first sergeants, will report to the sergeant-major, who after the formation of the guard will notify the adjutant. The inspection of the guard by the officer of the guard will follow. It will then be presented to the officer of the day, and will be marched in review in front of that officer and the old officer of the day. All of this will make an interesting ceremony.

Company drill by a picked company will be the next event.

After company drill, the pitching of shelter tents by the First Battalion, under Maj. F. C. Prescott, will be witnessed. This will be done in the same manner as if the battalion had just completed a hard day's march, and was about to bivouac for the night.

The Second Battalion will give a drill in extended order, in which a mock skirmish attack will be made, blank cartridges being used. Maj. D. R. Mills-will be in command.

IMMENSE CROWD EXPECTED.

If earnest work on the part of the committees of the Chamber of Commerce and others in the interest of the monument fund will result in a large attendance at the Seventh Regiment's exhibition, Agricultural Park will next Thursday afternoon contain a crowd which will be a reminder of the race meets there several years ago, when the races were run for the sport there is in them. People are coming from all over Southern California. Special trains will be run on all roads, and excursion rates have been announced merce and others in the interest of the from all points in this section. The sale of tickets in this city is to be looked after by the committees of the commercial bodies and by a special committee of the members of the regiment. The representatives of the various companies on this committee are: Sergt. Wells, Co. A; Corp. Overshiner, Co. B; Private Bott, Co. C; Corp. Stevens, Co. D; Corp. Graham, Co. E; Corp. Meyer, Co. A plan for increasing the fund, which originated with some member of the command, and which promises to net a considerable sum, is that of placing in the hands of the Red Cross Society a number of engraved cards, the price of which will be 50 cents. The name of every person who purchases one of these cards will be enrolled as a member of the Soldiers' Monument Association.

Messrs. Slauson and Newberry, who have had charge of the sale of the forty private boxes in the grand stand, have met with greater success than even they had expected. They started out among the business men yesterday morning to sell the boxes, and before the middle of the afternoon they had sold thirty-four of them. It had been intended to sell these boxes at auction, but later it was decided to make the price of them ils each, and the thirty-four were sold at that price. The remaining six of the forty boxes will be sold today. The price of reserved seats in the grand stand next Thursday will be 50 cents.

Col. F. D. Black, lessee of Agricultural Park, has offered the services of the utinxtiles at the gate, and the offer has been accepted, as both men have had experience at such work. L. Behymer will have charge of the ticket office at the park.

"We will have 28,000 people there sure," said J. R. Newberry last night, "and we hope to raise sufficient money that afternoon to build the monument."

The daily attendance at the camp has not been so large as the members of the command had expected or as they would like. Hundreds of people go to the camp every day, but it is surprising, considering the fact that the routine work of the troops is new to most people, that thousands do not fill the grand stand every afternoon to witness the evolutions which have never before been witnessed there. To the men themselves the day's work has long since become monotonous, and they go through the various movements of the drill in a mechanical manner that adds to its precision. The men have been drilled daily for so long that the awkward squads have disappeared and at least so far as their proficiency in drill is concerned, the troops act like regulars of long enlistment. At National Guard encampments when a battalion is moving it is expected that one or two sets of fours in each company will execute fours left when the command is "fours right" and vice versa, but not so with the Seventh. It has learned better, and the drill which the regiment puts up would do credit to any command in the regular army. unless when doing an exhibition drill.

The most interesting feature of the day at the camp yesterday was the physical drill with arms, a drill that is entirely new here. It was witnessed two years ago in front of the City Hall when the Marines from the U. S. S. Philadelphia participated in a Fiesta parade, but since that time the drill has been improved and that provided for infantry regiments is not the same as that contained in the naval regulations. Properly speaking it is not a drill, but is an exercise by the troops under arms, the manual of arms being followed to the time of lively music by the regimental band. The men like it better than the simple exercises provided for in the regulations, either with or without numbers, and to the spectators it presents a much The attorneys obtained an order from Justice Morrison directing Officer L. R. Ritch to show up in court with the bag of money he seized in the rooms of the Yick Loy Hen Association last Saturday night, under the pretext that it was evidence that a fan-tan game was running there.

This is directed against leged outrage complained or by their Chinese clients. This is directed against Officer Phillips, a rising young detective, who the attorneys say, invaded the premises of Ah Toy and Woo Chung in Chinatown last Saturday morning and seized and carried away $13 of the hard-earned coin of the hapless Celestials. All trace of this money, the lawyers say, has been lost. They made a demand on Acting Desk Clerk Lehnhausen for information as to the amount of money alleged to have been gobbled by Officer Phillips from Ah Toy and Woo Chung, who have not been arrested for any offense, nor complained against in court so far as can plained against in court so far as car be ascertained. Mr. Lehnhausen in formed them that unless an arres had been made, the property seized would not be in the custody of the desk clerk. He therefore referred the attor-neys to Captain of Detectives Bradish. r. Bradish said he did not know anything about any such seizure of money, and furthermore he did not believe Officer Phillips seized any.

The attorneys still affect the belief that their clients were robbed and say they will probe the matter to the bottern

The arrival of mustering officers from the north is expected daily. Col. Such men as those who have had experience in the volunteer service are more desired than raw recruits because the volunteers have already had such training that they can be at once assigned to companies in Dress paradic always attracts a larger attendance at the camp than any other event of the day. This ceremony is one of the prettiest provided for in the regulations. It is usually followed by a review of the regiment by Col. Berry, and this adds to the interest. Cuard mount takes place too early to

by a review of the resiment by Col. Perry, and this adds to the interest. Guard mount takes place too early to attract many visitors, although, if its spectacular nature was understood it would cause a much larger morning attendance than it does.

A decided improvement has been made in the quality of the rations is sued to the troops, and now few protests are made. An amusing incident happened at the camp Tuesday in this connection. On that day the best food that had yet been issued was served, and most of the men were satisfied. Some of them would object if they were dined daily at the best uptown restaurant. One of the members of an out-of-town company refused to eat the meat set before him, declaring that he had seen some of the meathefore it was cooked, and knew what it was. It is the effort of the officers to have the men satisfied, at least with their food, and one of the officers heard this private's statement. He was called from the mess quarters and asked what he had noticed about the meat that was so bad.

"They call part of it mutton," said the enlisted man, "but I happen to know that not all mutton is sheep. I saw the carcass of a goat in the meat house." was his surprising statement. Of course an investigation was begun at once, and the private was asked how he knew a goat's carcass had been served.

"I guess I know sheep when I see it," he replied. "That was a goat'

Then it was that Jerome Petrie, a ratlike little Canadian shoemaker, contrived to trip big Mike Donovan as he swung, a trifle unsteadily, around a corner. Mike hung on to the next man and the whole line went down. A howl of rage burst from the crowd behind. In a flash the merry stage of intoxication had given way to the furious and Jerome was running for his life. He made for his own home, and the torrent of raging, red-shirted lumber men poured into the narrow, dingy streets of the Canadian quarter. The little shoemaker dodged his pursuers somewhere among the tumbledown shantles. The swarming children scuttled indoors, lights went out behind the dirty windows and the "French village" was very still except for the shouting mob in the street. Gertner has been seen sitting in a box, for which he himself paid, in an elegant dress suit, with white tie and gloves, and looking so distingué that no one would have dreamed that he was a claquer. When he raised his handkerchief to his nose a round of applause followed: when he replaced the handkerchief in his pocket the clapping gradually subsided.

Gertner came to grief in a curious way. He was sitting in the stalls at an important first night and fell asleep during the play. A particularly tragic passage had been reached when Gertner suddenly awoke with a start and commenced to applaud vigorously. The house roared with laughter and the piece was ruined. Gertner was dismissed in disgrace and has died of a broken heart. As a claquer he succeeded in amassing a fortune of £10,000.

What Makes Men Strong?

ELECTRICITY—which sustains all animal life. It is the source from which springs the bubbling spirit of joy in young manhood. It is the vital element which keeps up the nerve force in old men to a good old age. When the body is charged with it the vital powers are strong. Confidence flashes from the eye and the step is firm. Without it—well, how is it with you? Are you weak, gloomy, wanting physical and brain force? If you are weak, you should begin at once using this famous appliance for weak men.

This appliance is the result of twenty years of close study, and contains all the recent improvements known to science. It is, in fact, a perfect battery, made in the form of a belt, to be worn on the body while the patient rests.

Are You Not Tired of Useless Drugging? No doubt you have tried medicines and failed. Why not try Nature's Own medy in this simple and thoroughly scientific way? Improved Electric Suspensory free with all belts.

DR. A. T. SANDEN: Dear Sir—"I treated with the best doctors of Tucson, Ariz., for Rheumatism, which gave me great trouble for three years. They did me no good and I came to Los Angeles, Cal., to go into the hospital to be treated by several of the physicians there for the disease, but without beneficial results. I concluded to try your Belt, and immediately upon application the pain stopped and I can truthfully say that after two nights' use I have not had the slightest touch since This was over two weeks ago.

J. F. FARIBAULT, Tucson, Ariz., with S. P. Co.,"

It Cures You While You Sleep.

The electric current from this Belt is felt as soon as it touches the body. This is warranted under a forfeit of $5000. It can be regulated to any power required while the Belt is on the body, and is worn while you sleep without the

"THREE CLASSES OF MEN,"—Is the titleof a neat illustrated pocket volume I have just is sued, exclusively for men, It gives in plain language the effects following youthful indiscretions and later excesses, as Seminal Weakness, impotency, Drains and Losses, Varicocele and Arrophy or undevelopment: also Rheumatism, Lumbago, Lumbago Troubles, etc., and points out an easy and sure cure at home WITHOUT DRUGS OR MEDICINE. It also gives a truthful resume of my thirty years' wonderful success with my Electric Beits in these cases, and every young, middle-aged or old man suffering the slightest weakness should read it and know exactly where he stands. It is sent free, sealed, by mail, upon request.

Dr. A. T. Sanden, 204 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

$5000 REWARD Will be paid for one of these Belts which fails to generate a current of electricity.

KEEP YOUR MONEY Until you get some return for it. Don't pay for any. thing until it is safely and surely in your possession. Beware of thing until it is safely and surely in your possession. Beware of the doctor who wants money before he earns it. My proposition to all chronic sufferers has never been equalled in California. It is the only honest proposition that a successful and legitimate specialist can make—NO PAY UNTIL CURED. For all Chronic Diseases Men and Women. Consultation Free, Write or call.

A WORD TO THE WISE. The men who were chosen by the people at the recent election to fill the county offices were elected by handsome majorities. They received a magnificent indorsement from the voters of Los Angeles county, and the people will expect them to be true to the platforms upon which they were elected, true to themselves, and true to the interests of the public. A faithful performance of their duties will be exacted. They will be expected and required, in the appointment of their subordinates, to select able men for the various positionsmen who are honest as well as able, and who can be relied upon for a faithful and conscientious performance of the duties required of them. The people of Los Angeles county have a right to expect, and to dethat the affairs of the county shall be conducted on correct and safe business principles. We must have honest and efficient work in all departments of the county government. The public business must be attended to promptly in every detail. People who are brought into personal contact with the county officials must at all times be treated with respect and courtesy (unless, as will happen in some cases, they forfeit the right to respectful treatment by personal discourtesy.) Public officials must not forget that they are also public servants. They must bear this important fact in mind, and must govern themselves accordingly. In no other way can they hope for public approval, and for success in future political con-

THE TIMES hopes and believes that the men elected to the county offices, without exception, will discharge with fidelity, and with credit to themselves, the duties of their positions. The personnel of the county ticket was generally of an exceptionally high character, and the people paid an unusual compliment to the ticket, andshowed their confidence in it, by giving it one of the largest majorities ever given to political candidates of any party in the county. Let us hope that the newly-elected officials will in every respect justify the confidence reed in them by the people.

DENVER'S WATER PROBLEM.

The city of Denver, Colo., is struggling with a municipal water question, similar in some respects to the city water question in Los Angeles. The Denver Union Water Company offers its plant to the city for the gross sum mates that the plant is worth less than $4,000,000, and that a larger and better system can be constructed, with new material throughout, for $5,700 .-000. The Mayor has recommended the issuance of city bonds to the amount of $6,000,000 for the construction of an entirely new system, and a strong movement is on foot in favor of municipal ownership.

Duluth, Minn., recently referred to in these columns, which resulted in these columns, which resulted finally in a complete triumph for the advocates of municipal ownership. The Duluth Water Company, after years of expensive litigation, was virtually compelled to sell its plant to the city at a fair price, far below the fictitious valuation originally placed If the friends of municipal ownership in Denver will stand fast to the end, they will no doubt be able to bring about a similarly satisfactory solution of their water problem.

It is to be hoped that the same probem in Los Angeles may be solved without protracted and costly litigation. A favorable outcome of the pending arbitration proceedings might rnish such a solution, and it is the in this matter, let us meet the issue with calmness, with courage and in to win; for we shall surely win w the policy of municipal ownership, refusing to be turned aside from that idea by any influence or consididea by any influence or considity and it seems impossible this fall for it to rain either water or stars.

much-to-be-desired consummation in the end, no matter how persistent may be the opposition which we may be obliged to encounter. Let us, therefore, not falter in the path of duty.

WALL STREET AND THE ELECTIONS. The result of the recent elections, according to Henry Clews's latest financial circular, has been to bring a veritable boom to Wall street. was due principally to the unmistakable triumph of sound-money principles. Stocks took a strong turn upward so soon as the results of the election were known, and a pronounced change for the better took place all along the line. Mr. Clews says: "Wall street has made no mistake in its estimate of the outcome of the Congressional elections. It is a reult hopeful beyond all expectations. The silver issue is laid in its grave, and Mr. Bryan with it. IN GOOD SHAPE.

It is a remarkable fact, as showing what a great change has taken place in California conditions during the past twenty years, that so little real lamage should have been done by the dry season of last winter. Thirty-five years ago, in 1864, when there was a evere drought, thousands of people n this State were ruined, and trade was so crippled that it did not recover for several years. In 1877 there was another severe dry spell. While it did not do so much harm as that of 1864, yet the suffering which it entailed was quite severe, and many people were broken up in business.

In contrast with this, the damage wrought by the dry season of 1897-98 was exceedingly small. The financial condition of the State is at present excellent. The damage done by the dry season had been, in fact, mainly confined to a reduction in the grain and hay crops, some reduction in the mineral output, where mining depends on a water supply, and a certain amount of loss to cattle and dairy interests. Where fruit-growers have had short crops, they have, as a rule, been recompensed by the greatly-increased prices received for the fruit. same is true in regard to the hay crop, prices for which have been from two to three times as high as they are in an average year.

It is time that we should cease to trot out the bogie of a dry season every time that the rainfall in this State falls a little below the average. The great development of underground water supplies from wells is rapidly making us independent in regard to a season's rainfall. Some people, who are never happy unless they are predicting disaster, are already beginning to prophesy gloomy things for the coming season. There is absolutely no foundation upon which to form and such alarming predictions. There is every probability that the coming sea son will give up an ample amount of rain. Meantime, it is well to bear in mind the facts referred to, in regard to the small amount of damage that was done by the last dry season.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEFEATED IN

WASHINGTON. At the recent election in the State Washington, a constitutional amendment in favor of woman suffrage was voted upon, and was defeated by a heavy majority. The advocates of woman suffrage had made what they regarded as a strong cam paign, and anticipated a great victory The result shows to what extent they counted without their host. Even in the State of Washington, where many fanciful and impracticable ideas have found a congenial soil, the woman suffrage cause was doomed to ignominious defeat. Commenting upon the result of the election in Washing ton, the Portland Oregonian well and truly says:

"Political suffrage for woman is slowly dying cause, and it is dying because it is without excuse for further existence. The real wrongs of women which existed when Lucy Stone began her agitation in 1847 have mostly been redressed by legislation Men of humane, common sense said. We do not think it necessary enormously to enlarge the suffrage in order to redress women's legal wrong and remove unjust disabilities.' To day every political principle advo-cated at the outset is enjoyed by women, save full suffrage, and every legal right sought by Lucy Stone has been granted to women. They are even treated with partiality by the laws, compared with men. Their inlaws, compared with men. Their in-dividuality is not lost in marriage, as it was when Mrs. Stanton, who is now over 80, was a young girl. avenue of activity is open to they are as free as men to earn their from the evil influence living in any lawful way they please. The conjugal, parental and property rights of women have been recognized and established by the political action of men without the aid of woman suffrage, simply because the vast mass of influential woman public opinion thought that the best way. The pres-ent situation is totally different from that of forty years ago, when 'woman's rights' was a genuine cause, because there were genuine woman's wrongs to be righted and legal disabilities be removed. The agitation and the organized effort begun more than fifty years ago had much to do with the reognition and redress of these wrongs, legal disabilities and inequalities; but with the accomplishment of these forms the cause of woman suffrage has made no real progress. Its modern revival in Kansas, Colorado and Idaho was but the outgrowth of the temporary socialistic spirit that prevails in those States.

"The lack of the ballot surely robe a woman of no rights of life, liberty or property. The reason why wom suffrage is not favored by the omen or the mass of men, is because it is a barren ideality. It rights no wrongs, it corrects no disability. Women today have without the ballot all the civil and social rights exercises by men. As a natural right, suffrage belongs to neither man nor woman, ballot is only the child of ar artificial social order, to be granted or withheld as a matter of social and of winner as a matter of social and political expediency. The mere wish of a few women to vote is of no more consequence to the state than the mere wish of a few women to enlist in the regular army. That Moll Pitcher served her wounded husband's gun at Monmouth is not an argument for the expedience of enlisting went.

Under the new charter, the powers of the Council practically remain the same as now, except that the members' capacity to do ward politics is considerably curtailed, through vesting the power of appointment in the Mayor. Otherwise, they exercise all the legislative power, subject to the Mayor's right to veto, and hold the purse strings. No appropriations or expenditures of money can be made except with their consent. They also control and direct all public works relating to streets and sewers, and all other matters not specifically impose on the several boards. The weather bureau is still backward with its rain crop. We trust that having completed its fixing up of the weather in Porto Rico and other newly-acquired possessions, will be enabled to pay some little at tention to the United States, and particularly to this section. A nasty and nefarious fight is be ng made against Herman Silver, the Republican candidate for Councilman in the Fourth Ward, but it will not win. Among the good features of the new charter is the fact that municipal elections are first to be held in De cember, 1899, and every four years thereafter, thus making our city elections fall in the "off" years, and making them four years apart, instead of two, thereby removing them entirely State and county politics.

Roberts, the Democratic candidate for Congress from Utah, was declared by the Salt Lake Tribune, before the election, to be "an active polygamist. "Finnigan's Ball" deserves a place in the front rank, for it ripples with hearty, wholesome laughter from start to finish. The plot is attenuated, as all other plots of its kind, but the specialties are good, the chorus well-drilled, and the comedians are genuinely funny. In addition, the piece is fairly well staged, and the costuming is handsome, as well as gay. The opening performance at the Los Angeles Theater last night was a decided success from the farce-comedy standpoint.

Cale Murray and Ollie Mack are, of course, the black-letter stars on the programme, and they do and say many mirth-provoking things in their remirth-provoking things in their respective characters of Casey and Finnigan. boxing-match is one of the funniest things on the bill.

Fully equal to either as a comedian is Fred Wilson, who appears in lanky petticoats, and a carroty wig, as the Widow Gallagher. The "incidental music" of the piece is bright and infectious, and the dancing is better than usual. In the ragrime promenade of the "Bowery Spielers," and the Irish cake-walk, it is especially good. Where is Timothy Day?

If Timothy Day will call on Chief Glass at the Police Station he will receive a ticket to San Bernardino, where his father resides. A few days ago Timothy, who is about 12 years of age, called on Chief Glass and asked assistance in finding his father. The boy had come from San Francisco in search of his paternal relative and did not know exactly where to find him, although he thought his father was in one of the towns near Los Angeles. Chief Glass located the elder Day in San Bernardino and yesterday received a remittance from him to purchase his son a ticket and send him home. After the boy called on Chief Glass he disappeared, and has not been seen since.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Solano gave a charming reception yesterday evening at their home, No. 2306 South Figueroa street, in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow, who were married last week. The spacious rooms were hand-somely and artistically decorated by week. The spacious rooms were handsomely and artistically decorated by Mrs. Anna Bancroft. The reception hall was lined with brakes, feathery bamboo and graceful palm fronds. Potted plants and palms, placed here and there, added beauty and color to the general effect, while quantities of large yellow chrysanthemums and French bows of yellow tulle were used with artistic taste. The same color was carried out in the library. Festons of tulle were twined about the grill work, and tall grasses and chrysanthemums were used. The reception room, in which the guests were received, was the handsomest of all Everything was carried out in pink and green. Mountain, brakes and feathery chrysanthemums were abundantly used, and broad pink satin ribbon, interspersed with ropes of smillar, was festooned around the walls, while here and there were immense French bows of the ribbon, producing a charming effect. The mantels and low bricabrac shelves were banked with maiden-hair ferns and chrysanthemums. Potted palms and ferns were arranged in pink tulle vases, and an Indian basket of maiden-hair ferns and chrysanthemums. A canopy, consisting of delicate sprays of asparagus ferns, broad white satin ribbon and white tulle, formed the body of the decorations. Beginning at the chandeliers in the center of the room, ropes or asparagus ferns, bows of ribbon and festoons of tulle were brought to the four corners, where they ended with immense French bows of white satin ribbon, caught up with bunches of sword ferns. The mantel, sideboard and buffet were banked with white chrysanthemums and asparagus ferns, and a large silver punch bowl was placed in the center. Mrs. W. C. Patterson and her daughter, Miss Ada Patterson, gave a large reception yesterday afternoon at their home on South Flower street. The decorations were graceful and artistic. Potted palms, masses of feathery bamboo, smifax and La France roses were used in the reception-room with charming effect. Ropes of smilax were caught in empire wreathes about the walls and huge branches of drooping dahlias were effectively used. The color scheme brought out in this room was pink and green. In the library the decorations were green and yellow. Butterfly bows of wide sating ribbon, chrysanthemums, and papyrus were used. The dining-room was in pink and green, the latter consisting of papyrus, smilax and ferns, while chrysanthemums were arranged in jardinaires placed about the room. The table decorations were handsome. Three embroidered centerpleces, supported a cut-glass vase filled with pink carnations. Broad satin ribbons, arranged in loops and bows, completed the table decorations were in the hall, which was entirely in green. The house was thrown open to the studio of Miss Patterson on the upper foor. Indian baskets of mixed roses were placed about the studio, and punch was served there throughout the afternoon. ANOTHER HOSE CONTEST. Some Lively Bidding Expected Fron Visiting Agents.

Whenever the city purchases any quantity of fire hose it does so only after a lively fight among hose agents The last time a purchase was made the fight lasted for weeks, and was taken from the Board of Fire Com missioners to the City Council and back again several times. It was finally settled by a division of the award, ally settled by a division of the award, the understanding being that a record would be kept of the manner in which the several kinds of hose purchased stood the service and at the next purchase this record was to be taken as a basis for determining what kind of hose should be purchased.

At the regular meeting of the City Council next Monday bids for furnishing the city with 6000 feet of fire hose will be opened, and it is certain that the usual contest will take place among the hose men. The representatives of the several manufacturers are already arriving in the city, and several of the local firms will-contest with them for the contract. R. S. Chapman, one of the best-known hose agents in this part of the country, arrived yesterday from San Francisco, to remain until after the award is made. Alex Russell, another well-known agent, is expected by tomorrow, and with him were come Chase. made. Alex Russell, another well-known agent, is expected by tomorrow, and with him may come Chase, Bates and others who are known in every city on the Coast where there is a fire department. Mr. Bowers, who, at the last contest, alleged that he was being fought by a combination of others, will not be present this time, as he is now in the East. Among the local merchants who are malting the local merchants who are making a fight for the contract, J. W. Hellman is doing the most work. He is peculiarly situated, however, on account of a cut which he made it prices at the letting of the last contract, only to exercise a count of the letting of the last contract only to exercise a contract on the contract of the contra tract, only to receive a share of the award, and whether he will try to place his price back where it originally was, is interesting the other hose men. This purchase of hose is but the bosinning of securing a supply large This purchase of hose is but the beginning of securing a supply large enough to equip all the new engine companies. Before the end of the fiscal year the city will probably purchase between 15,000 and 20,000 feet of hose, and the letting of this contract is of particular interest to the agents, as an indication of how the larger award will be made later.

WANTS A CLEAR SIDEWALK. Objection Made to a Stairway at the Byrne Building.

Rosalie Samm, owner of the Brother-ton building on the north side of Third street between Broadway and Hill street, has filed a petition to the City Council in the Clerk's office in which the removal of the side stairway of the Byrne building is demanded. The comnunication recites that on the south or Third-street side of the Byrne building there is a stairway leading to the basement of the building which takes up a portion of the sidewalk. The pe-titioner demands that this box and that the owner of the building be made to sidewalk the space occupied by the stairs so as to make a clear and

It was then stated by the at council. It was then stated by the at-torney's department that no property-owner had such a right and upon ob-jection by any other property-owner the obstructions, if any existed, would have to be removed. Nothing was done about the Douglas building matter by Objects to Paying License.

John S. Maltman has filed a communication to the City Council in the office of the City Clerk in which he make objection to paying a license tax for so-called oil wells on his property. He so-called oil wells on his property. He owns a large tract of land in the annexed portion of the city near Third and Vermont avenue, the place being remote from residences and improved streets. He states that he has dug a number of holes on his land and into them seeps crude oil in such quantities that it is possible to take it up in buckets. He has no derricks nor pumping plants and as he regularly pays all other taxes he does not consider that his property comes within the meaning of the oil-well ordinance requiring that a certain license be paid on each oil well. He therefore asks to be relieved from paying such a license.

The owners of a majority of the property frontage on Wilhardt street be-ween San Fernando and Naud streets ave petitioned the City Council to be gin proceedings for the complete im-provement of that street by grading, graveling, guttering, sidewalking and curbing with redwood.

The Case Submitted

City Attorney Dunn returned yester day from Sacramento, where he went to present before the Supreme Cour to present before the Supreme Court the city's side of the appeal in the case of the City vs. the Los Angeles City Water Company in the matter of the appointment of a receiver for that company. The company appealed from the decision of Judge Oster, its purpose being to annul the order of court in appointing a receiver. The case was presented before the Supreme Court on lengthy briefs, and there is of course no means of knowing what the probable decision of the court will be.

To them it was a free show, and they testified to their appreciation by frequent laughter and the shuffling of feet that might be interpreted to mean applause. And all this because of the free and easy manner in which the examination is manner in which the examination eing conducted. Assistant District At torney Williams is usually very liberal in this regard, and Mr. Jones, with his sarcastic interpolations, facetious re joinders and veiled innuendoes delight joinders and veiled innuendoes delighted the throng that lined the court-room by using the methods so useful before a jury to carry conviction to the mind of Justice Young, in his capacity as a court of initial procedure.

It was very slow work, and most of the day was taken up in examining Brighton, the detective. Some of his testimony was damaging to the defendant, and so he had to pay the penalty by being put through a long and, in a large measure, utterly irrelevant examination. Brighton is an old man examination. Brighton is an old man and picks up a few dollars where he can as one of the unattached hangers. on of the Sheriff's office. Wong Fong the Chinaman who was Mr. McComas' the Chinaman who was Mr. McComas's right bower during the Clark trial, employed Brighton to hunt for Wong Sing's body. In fulfilling his duty in that direction Brighton had the same opportunity to see things around Joe Hunter's house that the other deputy sheriffs had. But, according to his testimony yesterday, he saw those things that he ought not to have seen, and left unseen those things that he ought to have seen, and so Wong Fong said he would rather pay him double price to keep off the witness stand.

Then he tried to turn a dollar by go-

Then he tried to turn a dollar by go Then he tried to turn a goliar by go-ing out with Mr. Clark, for, as Brightor said. Sheriff Burr had been kind to him and he would not do anything to con-flict with the Sheriff's ideas of propri-ety, but he was told to go if he so pleased, and he went. That was the pleased, and he went. That was th unforgiveable sin in Mr. Jones's eyes and according to counsel, the supposi tion was warranted that Brighton ha-been bought up for the purpose of tes tifying to order.

"You'd even stretch your conscience: little to help a friend out if there wa a little money in it, wouldn't you?" asked Mr. Jones of the old man at on Well, perhaps you judge me in that by yourself," was the retort, and a ger eral laugh followed.

by yourself," was the retort, and a general laugh followed.

"I guess that you mean you tried deals with me," somewhat warmly answered Mr. Jones, "and I refused."

"Well, I thought the deal was square on my side and when I found it wasn't on yours, I quit."

Such little crossfire of wits was frequent. When Mr. Williams took occasion to say that the case had divided the District Attorney's office and the Sheriff's office, Mr. Jones sought to put words into his mouth: "The majority of them said they thought this prosecution an outrage, didn't they?" he said. "I don't know that they do," replied Mr. Williams, "but if it takes me cution an outrage, didn't they?" he said. "I don't know that they do," replied Mr. Williams, "but if it takes me all the remainder of the time I am in office I will see that this case goes through. My opinion of its merits has been the same from the outset."

The curious division of opinion regarding the innocence or guilt of the defendant among the law officers has been heretofore adverted to, and was yesterday made very apparent. It was conceded that Deputy Aguire and Joe Hunter were fast friends, having grown up from boyhood together, and therefore it was natural for Aguirre to stand by his friend. But at the same time he is a deputy sheriff, and on the opposite side of the legal fence separating him from the defendant. And though Aguirre answered all questions put to him, it was easy to be seen that so far as the prosecution was concerned, he was a reluctant witness. He answered the questions, but seldom in the affirmative or negative, but instead, with an explanation or a qualification. On more than one occasion the amicable relations between Mr. Williams On more than one occasion the ami-cable relations between Mr. Williams and the witness came very near being ruptured, and once mutual explanations had to be made in order to restore the entente cordiale.

TESTIMONY NOT WANTED.

When the case opened, J. B. Brighton, the detective and sometime ataché of the Sheriff's office, first testiled to being with Deputy Sheriff Barniall, Wong Fong and another Chinanan at Joe Hunter's house the second lay after the killing. He noticed at that time the blood spots on the kitchen floor, and saw that the sheets were missing from Clark's bed. On Friday witness went to the Hunterhouse again with Deputy Guy Woodward. Cleghorn, Joe Hunter's deputy, said that the officers had cut the matting and upset the house and spoiled Joe Hunter's razor. Cleghorn said he knew the officers had done it because they had looked under the bed, and the matting had not then been cut.

"They gave me such a shaking-up on Friday," said witness, "that on Saturday when I went out I asked them to show me what they said the officers had done. The bed was pulled out and I saw the cut, and they also showed me the razor that had its edge blunted and broken.

show me what they said the officers had done. The bed was pulled out and I saw the cut, and they also showed me the razor that had its edge blunted and broken.

"Cleghorn suggested we take up the back porch, and we started to do so, but found it laid down so fast that we desisted. Joe excused the matting being cut by saying that he had vomited there, and that the officers must have taken it for blood stains. At the time I understood him to say that it was him, but afterward he told me it was some one else. After I assured him that I didn't know of any officer cutting the matting, he professed to know nothing about it. Cleghorn remarked in conversation that he saw Harry Clark pass him on Wednesday night, close to Hunter's house. Clark was on his wheel, and Cleghorn said he called out to Clark to stop. He didn't stop, and Cleghorn stated that he took a shot or two at him. Hunter was standing by when Cleghorn said that. Hunter never made any remark regarding Clark's connection with the killing in the several conversations."

On cross-examination Mr. Jones attempted to draw from the witness a confession that, being a private detective, he was a generally bad character, and had been indicted by a grand jury. Witness stated that he had been arrested twice, once for "scrapping," but had never been indicted. He was engaged by the Chinaman to go out and search for their missing countryman, and on the Saturday pointed under the basement of the Hunter house to Guy Woodward and Frank Davis, and remarked that if the Chinaman was not under there then he was not dead. Witness said that to the best of his recollection Cleghorn said that the bedroom where the blood stains were found was his. "I remember it," said the witness, "because he laughed and said, 'I thought they might have put the damned Chinaman underneath my bed, aad so I looked.""

Referring to the pair of cuffs which witness stated the house, he said he saw them first in the hands of one of the Chinamen. What appeared to be blood stained the edge, and there were fo posed a remark that there was a cer-tain matter which he had anticipated

At this point, Mr. Williams interposed a remark that there was a certain matter which he had anticipated counsel would examine the witness upon, but as that had not been done he would ask Mr. Brighton to tell the court just how it came about that he testified at Clark's trial.

"I wasn't subpoenaed," said the witness; "but it is the custom with us, if we are told we are wanted, to waive the service and reading of a subpoena. I supposed that I was to be a witness until the prosecution had nearly closed its case, and then I asked Mr. McComas about it. He said he didn't know. I then asked Wong Fong, and he said he could not say for sure. I had been hanging around since the commencement of the trial, and Fong came to me later and bid me that he would pay me more not to swear in the case than if I went on and testified; and that Mr. Mc-Comas didn't want me to swear the cutting of the matting against Joe Hunter."

To rebut the insinuation of defending counsel, that Brighton had been in trouble on two occasion, Mr. Willams asked the witness to state the circumstances. Brighton said that he had been arrested in Kansas once for scrapping with a fellow and had paid a $5 fine. Later, in Arizona, he had been a deputy under United States trial; but some of the witness's testisheriff of Apache county. He held a warrant for the arrest of a deeperado named Ike Clanton. He trailed him down, and when the man put up a fight he killed him. The dead man's friends stood in together in an attempt to drive a band of 180 head of cattle over the line into Mexico, and Capt. Plerce, the Indian agent, engaged Brighton to go down and head them off. Some of the Mexican officials then swore out a complaint for murder against the witness, but he was released when the officers arrived from Apache county.

When the witness had finished his recital, Mr. Williams said the remarks that had been made by opposing counsel reflected upon the witness. The was released when the officers arrived from Apache county.

When the witness had finished his recit

WHAT MARTIN AGUIRRE SAID.

WHAT MARTIN AGUIRRE SAID.

For the nonce, the witness was retired, and Deputy Sheriff Martin Aguirre was recalled to the witness stand. A large amount of his testimony was a mere repetition of what had been testified to during Clark's trial; but some of witnesses' testimony had a more direct bearing upon Joe Hunter and his whereabouts than that previously given.

"Clement told me a murder had been committed," said Aguirre, "and he and I drove down on that same Wednesday morning and met Joe Hunter at Hoffman's saloon. I spoke to Joe and then told Clem, and he in turn spoke to Clark, who was in the inside room. We then drove over to Joe Hunter's. I went underneath and found a clod of earth that was stained as I thought, with blood, and handed it out to Clem. Joe was standing outside when I went under the basement.

"What did Joe first say when you

"What did Joe first say when you met him at Hoffman's?" inquired Mr Williams.
"He said, "There's a Chinaman that's missing, and the man that I suspect of killing him is inside."

"He said, 'There's a Chinaman that's missing, and the man that I suspect of killing him is inside."

"What conversation then took place with Joe Hunter?"

"I asked who was at his house, and he told me about Clark, and I then told Clem to go inside and talk to Clark and bring him out. Clem had told me that Joe had telephoned in that a murder had been committed, and when I first saw Joe he told be about the disappearance and his suspicion regarding Clark."

"What facts did he give upon which he based his opinions that a Chinaman had been killed?"

"That Clark was the last man in the house after the Chinaman was seen up there."

"What did you say to Clark about what Joe had said?"

"Not a word."

Witness next proceeded to tell of his search in the Hunter house, telling much the same story as on the trial of Harry Clark. In telling of the finding of the shirt bearing the blood stain, which Clark acknowledged to be his, witness said that he remarked:
"You changed this shirt for an old dirty one, and ten to one that blood is the Chinaman's blood." At that witness stated, Clark turned white, and witness went to Under Sheriff Clement and told him that in his opinion Clark had committed the murder.

Telling of the drive to Garvanza, the witness said he took Clark rather than Joe Hunter, because he didn't suspect Clark. After the latter ran found.

Aguirre went on to tell of going with the under sheriff and the defendant to the house of Letitia Allec. Joe Hunter went inside and saw the girl, leaving his companions outside. Proceeding to tell of Cleghorn taking a shot at Clark on that night, the witness concluded that part of his narrative by saying that Joe Hunter and he laid down on the bed together that night.

On cross-examination the witness denied that he had put Clark under arrest before going to Garvanza, and nied that he had put Clark under arrest before going to Garvanza, and said that if he had Clark would never have got away. Upon driving down to Hoffman's saloon Aguirre said that he and Clement knew that there was a Chinaman missing, and discussed the probability of a murder having been committed. When witness went under the basement and found a clod stained with what he believed to be blood, and handed it out to Clement, he inquired of Clark, when he came out, about it. Clark said that he had killed a chicken and thrown it under the house. Witness then inquired of him if the basement was an ice-house in which to keep chickens, and Clark made no reply. It was after that the stained shirt was found by witness.

AN ALIBI FOR JOE.

AN ALIBI FOR JOE. After driving Clement home on that After driving Clement home on that night the witness picked Joe Hunter up in town and they drove out to Sycamore Grove and waited for two Pasadena cars to see if Clark would pass. They then drove to Joe Hunter's house, and it was some time after midnight that Joe sent Cleghorn with his vietce to watch on the road. From nouse, and it was some time accumulation inght that Joe sent Cleghorn with his pistol to watch on the road. From that time on Joe Hunter and witness were together for the remainder of the night. Witness heard a shot fired and aroused Joe Hunter, and then Cleghorn came in at the back door and said it was useless to pursue, as Clark was on a bleyele.

It was at Garvanza that the witness noticed blood on the spoke of one of the wheels, and he chipped the stain off and gave it to Clement. Clark had told witness that when the Chinaman was at the house he was playing solitaire, but saw that the laundryman had from $30 to $35. For that reason witness searched in the wagon to see if the sack of money referred to by Clark was still under the seat.

TWO FACETIOUS ATTORNEYS.

TWO FACETIOUS ATTORNEYS. Deputy District Attorney McComa

Deputy District Attorney McComas was called by the defense for the purpose of testifying what exhibits had been introduced in the Clark trial, but it served the purpose of Mr. Jones and the witness to have a little fun at the expense of the prosecution.

"You are the Assistant District Attorney?" queried Mr. Jones with becoming ignorance of the status in the District Attorney's office of his witness.

"No, oh, no," responded Mr. McComas humbly. "I'm not so high up as that. I'm only a deputy," and he glanced at the prosecuting attorney in the case.

"He's your immediate superior?"

""es sir."

Being asked regarding the status of Brighton in the trial—the matter of the exhibits to testify about which the witness had been called fell altogether into abeyance—Mr. McComas gave the impression regarding Brighton more strikingly by what he did not say than by ness had been called fell altogether into abeyance—Mr. McComas gave the impression regarding Brighton more strikingly by what he did not say than by his words of testimony.

"I heard Brighton was scouting around in the brush," he remarked. "The sleuth-hounds were all around and he was one. Yes, I know Wong Fong; he's a good Chinaman. I think I had Brighton subpoenaed, but I knew what he had to say and I didn't think it would help me much."

"You told Wong Fong, didn't you, that Brighton's reputation was not such as to make it worth while for you to put him on?"

Mr. McComas appeared to be grieved, not to say shocked, at the insinuation against his friend.

"Oh, I can't say that," he remarked in a tone that belied his words, "Brighton and I were in the same regiment together, and I couldn't say that against him, 5' and Mr. McComas held out his hands appealingly not to be pressed to speak against an old comrade.

After this little fling the witness answered one or two questions regarding the exhibits and was then retired.

J. W. Summerfield, the Coroner's clerk, then testified to $38.70 having been found in the trouser pocket of the dead Chinaman. There were three $5 pieces, one $10 piece and the balance was in small silver save for a very few dollar-pieces. After this little fling the witness an-

ANOTHER CRACK AT THE DE-TECTIVE.

Then the detective, Brighton, was ecalled and put through a rigid examination by Mr. Jones. It appeared to be counsel's desire to have it appear that the witness was an employé of Mr. Clark and having been bought up body and soul, was ready to testify to anything tending to tell against Joe Hunter.

"When did you see her?"
"Well, Mr. Jones, it is no secret, for I told the Sheriff I was going. I never did anything that would conflict with Mr. Burr, and told him if I went out for Mr. Clark there would be a little money in it for me, and he told me to go."

"Now, you took Mrs. Coleman out of the bar to talk to her, didn't you?"

"No, sir, she took me into the back room."

"What did you go to see her for?"

"I heard that she had said Joe went home on the night before the Chinaman disappeared, before dark. When I asked her she told me that she daren't tell what she knew about Joe because when he owed her a bill and she asked for it he knocked her down. She said, too, that she didn't remember what time Joe went home on that night."

"I told him the people weren't satisfied: that I didn't know anything about it, and in trying to find out I was earning wages."
"What people were not satisfied that the right man had been captured?"

objected to some of the questions. Mr. Jones urged he had the Hight to put them to impeach the witness. Mr. Williams contended that he could not impeach a witness on an immaterial matter, and what the Sheriff's departments matter, and what the Sheriit's department thought or ony one else thought cut no figure; that this trial had to go through independent of every one or what they thought.

"When you were trying to get Mrs. Coleman to remember what she knew, didn't she say: "Clark tapped my till, and I have no use for him and Joe Hunter is no good?" inquired Mr. Jones.

of the bill, referred to in Brighton's testimony, he lifted his fist and knocked her down.

T. W. Penland, the farmer who supplied Harry Clark with the four cartidges, testified to living close to Joe Hunter's place at the time of the killing. He again testified to the laundrywagon driving to Joe Hunter's about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and seeing it last about dusk. Between 5 and 6 o'clock witness heard one or two shots, but he could not say which number. It was not dusk then, and he and his family were eating dinner. Earlier in the afternoon he had heard two other shots.

Al Barrell, proprietor of the roadhouse, testified that Joe Hunter left his place about 7:30 o'clock in the evening and went down the road with a companion. It was about 8 o'clock when he returned and passed the house, going in the direction of home. Very early next morning, he said, Harry Clark aroused him to get some whisky, and he remarked to the saloon-keeper that he had not been able to sleep all night. In speaking of the bloodstained duffs, several times alluded to in the course of the examination, witness said that he saw them in the possession of Wong Fong. Cleghorn said they were his cuffs, and when Wong Fong asked about the blood upon them he pulled up his sleeve and showed Fong asked about the blood upon the he pulled up his sleeve and show where he had scratched his wrist, sa ing that that accounted for the blood on the linen.

"Now the bloody cuffs are done with," interjected Mr. Jones.

"Yes," replied Mr. Williams, "you can't say clark owned them, and I can't say they were Hunter's."

"And they were not the ouffs you were hunting for," amiably suggested Mr. Jones.

"That's all right," responded Mr. Williams, "but what did you send the cuff buttons in evidence for?"

To this there was no answer.

cuff buttons in evidence for?"
To this there was no answer.
Al Barrell concluded his direct testimony by saying that on the Wednesday somebody looked under Clark's bed—he thought it was Brighton—and the matting was not then cut.

Mrs. Penland testified regarding hearing the shots fired much the same as at the trial of Clark, and Deputy Sheriff Barnhill testified regarding his search at Joe Hunter's house.

The plaintiff was tenant on eight acres of land at Fruitland, belonging to the defendant. It was alleged that Priori cut down eighteen poplar and forty gum trees on the place, and for that Squire had his tenant arrested on the charge of grand larceny. When the case came to trial in Justice Young's court, in June last, the evidence went to show that Priori had received permission from Squire to cut down some trees, and also pull down an old barn. Squire contended that the trees he consented should be cut did not include those on which his complaint had been based, but as there had been a disagreement between the parties regarding Priori's leaving his rented land, and also in view of the permission given by Squire, the charge was dismissed and Priori discharged. permission given by Squire, the charge was dismissed and Priori discharged.

Attorney W. A. Harris is confident his clients, Albert Casner and Lorenzo D. Haile, will be acquitted of conspiracy to rob the United States mails, for which they are now on trial in the United States District Court, At the close of yesterday's session of the court the attorney said the government had utterly failed to make a case against the alleged conspirators. This claim, in short, is the ground upon which Mr. Harris based his motion to the court that the jury be instructed to acquit the defendants. This motion made by the attorney was the cause of a hasty adjournment of court an hour before the attorney was the cause of a hasty adjournment of court an hour before the regular time yesterday afternoon. At the opening of court this morning witnesses for the defense will take the stand. There are seven of them, beside the defendants, and it has not yet been determined whether Haile and Casner will take the stand in their own defense. In a measure this decision depends upon the ruling of the court on the motion made by Attorney Harris yesterday afternoon. However, should the ruling be against the alleged conspirators, they may not be sworn. Both are anxious to vindicate themselves of the charges against them, they say, but their attorneys have not determined on the best course to pursue, and will do so only after the court opens today.

Until L. D. Murphy, an attorney, ranch hand, saloon keeper and ex-Mexican revolutionist, was sworn as a witness yesterday afternoon the government had failed to make a case against Defendant Casner. Murphy's testimony did not make a particularly strong case against Casner, but it was the first direct evidence introduced to show that he had any connection with the holding up of the Santa Fé train between Oro Grande and Victor, the night of April 20.

Murphy testified that a few days prior to the date of the hold-up and robbery he had received a letter from Casner in which the defendant said he was in need of funds. It said the writer must raise some money, and that the Santa Fé train came through Oro Grande in the night and carried about the sum that was needed. In closing Casner, Murphy testified, said in case he boited the town he would pay witness a visit at Wheatland where he was iiving at that time.

Attorney Harris was thorough in his closs-examination of Murphy, and tried to gain an admission from the witness that he had been engaged in unlawful pursuits on various occasions. Murphy, however, refused to answer some of the questions, and was excused.

Quite a number of women were present in the court-room yesterday and the corridor was filled with witnesses waiting the regular time yesterday afternoon.

John C. King was called to the stand. King is a special officer in the employ of the Santa Fé Railroad. He told the court how upon searching Haile's room at Oro Grande, he found an old pair of shoes, the measurements of which exactly coincided with those of footprints found near the scene of the hold-up. Jessie Burton of Oro Grande told of a conversation he had heard in Haile's saloon between Jones, Bennington, Haile and Casnef, in which one of the men said it would be an easy matter to rob the train and escape detection. He also told of seeing a man named Thompson sell some fuse and two sticks of dynamite to Haile prior to the robbery.

Mrs. Burton, who followed her husband on the stand, testified that she heard Jones's pony run past her home at 4 o'clock on the morning that the train was held up. This is the animal that Haile is said to have ridden from the scene of the hold-up back to Oro Grande. Upon Mrs. Burton's evidence, the government bases a part of its theory of Haile's connection in the robbery. The woman was positive it was Jones's pony which passed her home that morning. She knew it by the beat of its hoofs on the road.

Attorney Harris, in his closing argument, will take advantage of the evidence of Mrs. Burton's home that Haile and Casner were asleep in their bed at 3:40 o'clock on the morning of the robbery, and therefore it would have been impossible for one of them to have been on the pony which passed Mrs. Burton's home twenty minutes later, as is contended by the government. The hold-up occurred at 3:12 a. m., and Attorney Harris will contend that it would have been a physical impossibility for one of the participants to have returned to Oro Grande, take care of his horse and get into bed in twenty-eight minutes.

L. D. Murphy was the first witness called at the afternoon session of the

L. D. Murphy was the first witness called at the afternoon session of the called at the afternoon session of the court. His testimony, in addition to being the first direct evidence connecting Casner with the train-robbery, was interesting on account of the character of the witness. Murphy is an enigma, and to all the questions put to him about his career he refused to was interesting on account of the character of the witness. Murphy is an enigma, and to all the questions put to him about his career he refused to answer, unless the question bore directly on the case on trial. The witness said that he graduated from the University of Michigan, and was admitted to the bar in that State. He roved about for several years, finally landing in Texas, where he practiced law. Later he hired out as a ranch hand, and in 1883 he went to Mexico, enrarged in a revolution against the government, and eventually became a captain in the army of the rebels.

For this work the Mexican government, he says, put a price on his head, and he fied to the States, and assumed the name of Rivers. It was while in Arlzona, under the name of Rivers, that Murphy first met Casner. Later, said the witness, he went to Oro Grande and conducted a saloon there. After giving this account of his career the witness told of receiving the letter from Casner.

Following Murphy, Virgil Jones and J. P. Jones, bnother and father, respectively of the Toll Jones, killed, were put on the stand to give unimportant testimony relative to the condition of the pony ridden by Toll Jones, on the night of the robbery, which resulted in the death of their relative, one of the robbers. When Curtner was excused, Distactive Flint announced that the government's case was in. This came as a surprise to counsel for the defense, who had expected that the entire day would be consumed by the prosecution. Altorney Harris asked that the jury be excused, and after the twelve men had left the room, he entered a motion that the court instruct the jury to acquit Casner on the ground that the evidence did not connect him with the crime.

The attorney made a lengthy argument in defense of his motion, rement in defense of his motion, reviewing the evidence of the prosecution in detail. He said that he desired to make the motion apply to Haile as well as to Casner.

Mr. Harris denied that the government had made a case against Casner. In defense of his motion that the jury be instructed to acquit Haile, he said that only one witness had connected him with the crime, and that this one was an accomplice, Bennington. In support of his argument he read and quoted from various decisions and rulings, which held that the testimony of an accomplice was valueless unless corroborated. He then defined conspiracy, and declared that no evidence had been introduced by the prosecution to show that such a condition existed.

Judge Wellborn desired to consult the authorities quoted, and to this end adjourned court until this morning. Attorney Harris thinks he can finish with his witnesses this morning, and in that event the case will doubtless go to the jury during the afternoon.

"This sort of thing will drive me to drink, yet, and kill off one of the most profitable indutsries in Los .n-geles. What's the matter with the suckers nowadays, anyway? They were made to skin, and I don't think it is nice of them to make such a hullaballor just because a few accommodating gentlemen like me and my little band of sucker-skinners are doing the best we can to skin them the way Providence ordained that they should be skun."

This lamentation on the part of Mr. Davis was provoked by the arrest of two of his ablest disciples in the art of sucker-skinning—Pete Newell and Henry Starr, alias Stein.

IN THE TOILS. Newell and Star were taken into custody vesterday by Officer Zeigler or complaint of E. W. Easton of Riverside, who accosted the officer on the street and told him that he had been buncoed at No. 311 West Third street, where the "Poker" Davis Society for Skinning Suckers has its present headquarters. Newell and Starr were given temporary lodgings in the City Jail while officers skurried about with warranty for the arrest of two other members of the "Poker" Davis gang who assisted in the fleecing of Easton.

man of at least average intelligence, above 40 years of age and in ful possession of his senses. His reading has not been confined to Sunday-school literature alone. He reads the daily papers which make frequent expositions of the methods of bunco-steerers and their lik, yet he was trapped with the same old bait that has been held out to suckers for lo, these many years.

Mr. Easton is a retired eastern farmer who has settled at Riverside for the benefit of his health. Police Officer Hubbard and other residents of this city who have known him for some time say he is a man of the strictest probity and excellent habits. He is as innocent of the art of gambling, they say, and he says so himself, as a new-born babe. The invelging of such a man into a game of cards with a gang of entire strangers is therefore a high tribute to the finesse of "Poker" Davis and his coadjutors. This is the way Mr. Easton says it was done:

How IT WAS DONE.

He arrived in the city from Riverside yesterday morning and was trying to find an address on Main street where he had some business to transact. As he was strolling leisurely along reading the signs over the doors, a genial stranger bumped up against him, begged his pardon and asked whether he could direct him to the stock yards, saying he was a late arrival from Colorado and not familiar with the geography of Los Angeles. Easton explained that he was himself a stranger in the city and therefore unable to give the desired information. A casual conversation ensued during which Easton told the "Colorado man" that he was sojourning at Riverside for the benefit of his health. This led the Coloradan to remark that he had brought his aged mother here in the hope that the HOW IT WAS DONE.

far-famed climate of Los Angeles would stay the ravages of her disease, but there the genial stranger wiped a tear from his near eye alas, she seemed to be growing worse. He wanted to know whether the drier climate of Riverside might not be better for her, and Mr. Easton said he had no doubt it would.

While they were discussing climate and things, a friend of the Colorado man came along. It was apparently a chance meeting of two old friends, and the newcomer was introduced to and the newcomer was introduced to Easton as Mr. Mason. Mason said he had some very nice mining specimens at the office of a friend on Third street, and invited Easton and the other man to go along up to look at them. If Easton cared for such trinkets he would give him a few choice nuggets to take home.

IN THE ROBBERS' DEN. The trio accordingly hied themselves The trio accordingly hied themselves to a commodious room in the Orlando House at No. 311 West Third street. Newell and Starr were there and were introduced by fictitious names. But Mr. Davis, the man-with a valise full of nuggets, had not yet arrived. He would show up in about half an hour, they thought, and as a means of killing time, a game of cards was broached.

Easton asked to be excused, saying he did not know how to play, but they dealt him a hand anyway, and Starr said he would play his hand for him. Easton's hand won, of course, and the cards were dealt again. The gang put up money for chips, but Easton was shy. They insisted that he should put up some coin as an evidence of good faith, but he demurred, saying that he was on to their little game, for Easton had by this time made up his mind that he was up against a bunco outfit. In fact, he says he boldly told them that he believed they were swindlers, but they laughed the suggestion to scorn. They wanted to know if it was because he hadn't any money that he was os hy.

SHOWED HIS MONEY. SHOWED HIS MONEY.

Easton was determined to let them know that he was no pauper, whatever else they might justly accuse him of. esse they might justify accuse nim of.

So he recklessly pulled out a handfulof money—a $20 gold piece and some silver, $26.50 in all, he says, and let them see it, just to tantalize them.
He had not reckoned with his hosts.
He believed them to be designing men,

According to Easton's statement, one of the men snatched the money out of his hand and threw it on the out of his hand and threw it on the table. One of the others scooped it up and put it in his pocket.

Easton protested against such high-handed robbery, and demanded back his coin. He was told to go and "chase" himself, but he went chasing after a policeman instead. The two steerers followed him to the street imploring him not to do anything rash, but he did.

TOLD A POLICEMAN. Meeting Officer Ziegler, Easton told him his tale of woe. The two steerers had by this time disappeared, but Ziegler accompanied Easton back to Ziegier accompanied Easton back to the robbers' den. Newell and Stari were still there. They told the officer that Easton had bet on a fair game of draw poker and lost, and was now squealing, which was very unsports-manlike, to say the least. The officer said that did not make any difference they would have to refund his money said that did not make any difference; they would have to refund his money, anyhow. Newell said he would settle with the sucker if the officer would leave the room, but Ziegler, whose ambition is to wear a detective's star, would not budge till the man had his money. Newell then reluctantly disgorged $24, for it is a principle that "Poker" Davis has inculcated in all his gang always to disgorge if the sucker "hollers" so loud as to attract the attention of the police.

Newell and Starr evidently thought that would end the incident, but it didn't. Easton had his dander up, and he insisted upon the officer doing his whole duty. Zeigler accordingly marched Newell and Starr off to the Police Station, where they were ushered into the chamber of mysteries, searched

He hurried to the Police Station to see how he could get his men out of their predicament. He entreated in vain for their deliverance on the ground that the sucker's money had been paid back. He followed Easton about and tried to convince him how unkind it was of him to kick up such a rumpus, but Easton refused to listen to the blandishments of the old man. Easton had heard of the hypnotic influence of "Poker" Davis, and did not propose to take chances on being buncoed the second time in one day. This made "Poker" exceedingly sad.

"Natchez" Bilderrain, the ex-brother-in-law of a Police Commissioner, also put in a hasty appearance at the Po-lice Station to lend aid and comfort to his distressed brothers. "Natch" branced around like a monkey on a hot griddle, but his pull as an ex-brother-in-law availed him nothing.

COMPLAINT DRAWN UP. Easton told his story to Deputy District Attorney Chambers, and de-clared that if a complaint were given him he would stay in Los Angeles till doomsday if necessary to convict clared that if a complaint were given him he would stay in Los Angeles till doomsday, if necessary, to convict his despoilers. Mr. Chambers drew up a complaint that he thought would fit the case. The complaint recites that P. Newell, H. Stein, John Doe and Richard Roe did wilfully, unlawfully, etc., "agree and conspire to gether to cheat and defraud divers citizens of the county of Los Angeles, to the affiant unknown, and this affiant and the public generally, of money and property by means which were and are of themselves criminal, towit: By unlawfully and fraudulently, through invitation and device, prevalling upon said persons and this affiant to visit a room and place then and there kept for the purpose of gambling on Third street in said city of Los Angeles, and by means of a game, device and trick and other means by the use of cards and other implements, to defraud and obtain from this affiant and said persons money and property of and belonging to this affiant and said persons."

The complaint then goes on to recite specifically how E. W. Easton, the affiant, was prevailed upon to visit the gamblers' rendezvous, where he was bunceed to the tune of $26.50.

On the strength of this complaint warrants for the arrest of all the defendants complained of were issued by Justice Morrison.

The Olive Crop.

HE New York Sun, in a recent article on the olive in California, states that the olive-growers of ifornia "will probably gather next winter the largest crop ever grown in the United States." This statement is about as far from the truth as it could possibly be made. The fact is that the present olive crop of California is, to a great extent, a failure.

In a recent article, Mr. Lelong of the State Board of Horticulture, went into a detailed exposition of the immensity which the olive crop would at-tain within the next 'cw years, run-ning into thousands upon thousands of barrels, according to Mr. Lelong. This may be, but, meantime, it is rather premature to make such estimates, in view of the fact that the present season's crop is likely to be reckoned by hundreds of barrels, and that a good many owners of olive groves have be-come so discouraged that they are talking about cutting down their trees.

The agricultural editor of the Chronicle has the following in regard to an article which appeared recently in the farm department of The Times, on the

"The Los Angeles Times publishes a ng article on the condition of the The Los Angeles Times publishes a long article on the condition of the olive industry in the southern counties, in which the writer takes the most gloomy view of the probable outcome of the investments in olive culture. We are not in a position to judge, so well as the writer in The Times, of the conditions in the particular localities named, but it is an undoubted fact that there are large areas in the State where the clive will bear as freely and regularly as it appears to bear anywhere. There has been an olive boom and many growers who have invested money upon conclusions which have been jumped at, must now face losses which always follow investments made without due investigation and deliber-

"At the bottom of the olive busines e are two difficulties. In the com-e olive oil cannot profitably com-in the general market with the less expensive vegetable oils. These oils will be used for purposes of adulteration, or, if well enforced pure-food laws prevent that, they will boldly compete under other names for the trade. If cotton-seed oil does not sell freely for table use it will be called 'Union Salad Oil,' or something else. Under such names cotton-seed oil to-day has nearly all the restaurant and much of the family trade for table oils. Here and there are energetic producer Here and there an energetic producer of ample means may create a demand for his special brand of oil at a high price. This does not help the unknown producers, who must sell their oils at the price of refined cotton-seed oil. The pickled olives cannot be counterfeited, but the demand is very trifling in the United States. For ripe pickled olives a demand has to be created. It could be created if the price were made low enough, but a ripe pickled olive that will keep is a rather costly product. From these things arises the second difficulty of creating a market for an expensive product.

"These difficulties are inherent in the Here and there an energetic producer of ample means may create a demand

"These difficulties are inherent in the considered before planting by those who have invested so recklessly. But besides these planters have added others. They have planted largely of foreign varieties of recognized excellence in their native localities without waiting to determine by experiment how they would do here. To this day there are but two varieties of olives whose success is established in California. One of these is the Mission, which is the only olive any one has yet made money on, and the other is the Redding Pickoline, which is probably a wild olive, and, at any rate, is not worth raising. If no olives had ever been planted in the State, except experimentally, but the Mission, our olive-growers would be better off. Another cause of disaster is the crowding in of 108 trees to the acre in the majority of orchards, when from forty to fifty is all that the land should carry. Warnings against both these practices have been abundant from the beginning of the industry in the State, and could have escaped no one who used ordinary diligence in investigating before investing. considered before planting by thos who have invested so recklessly. Bu

"In spite of all this we think growers foolish who have dug out their olive trees because they bore nothing this year. It is very likely that next year's crop will be all the better. A crop in year. It is very likely that next year's crop will be all the better. A crop in every alternate year is all that is expected by experienced olive-growers. The industry is now in a condition to justify a careful official investigation, astify a careful official investigation, attending over two or three years, and conducted with scientific precision. he Agricultural College will underslate it if the State will provide funds, the best man for the work is Prof. P. As there is to be no fighting, he could norbably resign and the could norbably resign and the country better than by spending a year or two in a thorough study of the olive groves now of bearing age a this State. There have been large avestments which ought not be needessly abandoned."

The Year's Fruit Crop.

ason, California fruit products ade a good record in 1897. The California Fruit Grower. In its annual re-view, shows that of the deciduous fruit crop of 1897, there was marketed with, closely upon the harvest, an aggre-ate of 145,250,000 pounds, and of cured uit, including prunes, there was marnit, including prunes, there was marted in the succeeding ten or twelve onths an aggregate of 176,890,000 unds. The last, upon a moderate rabasis of fresh to curvil, represents er seven hundred million pounds of sh fruits. Commenting upon these ures, the Fruit Grower goes on to an unprecedented drought, and conse quent short crops of all kinds, high prices for fresh fruits for canners' use and for shipping, and ready sales a from fair to high prices are the chief features. The relatively small quantity of cured fruits, and, taking into consideration the diminished output, the low prices and slow sales, are other features not so pleasant to contemplate. The fruit crop of the United States outside of California, and of nearly all Europe was also short, and in many stances failures. These conditions have not created the expected extra demand and better figures. Speculators have not entered the field as heretofore. The buying has been done by the trade for trade requirements, and the goods have reached consumers directly upon arri-val at destination. The export trade has not been fully supplied, owing t the lack of suitable material for the foreign demand. The output of all fruits and fruit products in this State excepting canned fruits, will show a heavy shortage when compared with former years. The overland shipments of fresh fruits, considering the short crop, make a re-markable showing. The honey crop has proved to be almost a failure, be-cause of a lack of moisture and honeycarrying flowers. The walnut crop promised to be large, but is proving to be short, and the quality is not as good as usual. The almond crop is almost a failure. Raisin grapes, early in the season, gave evidence of a bountiful yield, but as with other fruit crops, the output at last is short.

Early rains did some damage to the fruit on the trays. The orange and lemon crop of 1897-98 turned out to be a "bumper" and for the most part of fine quality. Good prices were realized for a large part of these fruits. The wine grape crop was a disappointment as to size, and some of the wine is not entirely sound. This, however, may prove to be a blessing in disguise. The output of merchantable, sound wine in California this year is the lightest in many years. The apple crop and the output of evaporated apples are light this season the country over. Of shipping apples, the California crop is ex-ceptionally good.

Orange Culture.

THE following is "boiled down" from . C. C. Chapman's paper on this subject which he read before the last series of Farmers' Institutes:

"Citrus fruit-growers are supposed to again be so easily led into buying so heavily of this stock. "The Thompson improved navel is much sought after in the larger marcently put out, remains to be seen. I predict that much of it will prove to be a fair grade of Washington navel, "Either the Malta or Ruby Blood oranges, in limited quantities, will generally find a ready market at fair prices. The Maltese is a regular and heavy hearer.

The Makese is a regular and neavy bearer.

"The St. Michael is a good bearer, and I believe will grow in favor. To an extent it will supply the place of the late seedling. I find two varieties of the St. Michael. What is known as the Paper Rind, I would shun. The true is more of a dwarf. The fruit is smailer and more inclined to drop than the other variety, which, even with it, is a serious weakness. All oranges should be marketed when in their prime, but it seems imperative that the St. Michael should be.

"The larger St. Michael comes from the Island of St. Michael, one of the Azores, a group of small islands off the coast of Portugal. A party who had lived there and knows the fruit, on seeing some specimens I had, said they were identiced with the previous

"The Valencia lates, if properly manipulated, may be depended upon to supply the limited demand for oranges during the summer and early autumn, although this season the market is filled with nearly all varieties. This is a fine orange, a good bearer, though it does not come in bearing as soon as the navel, and is a splendid keeper. Hart's Tardiff, which is grown at Riverside, I am told, is the same orange. If not the same variety it is very similar.

"If I were setting out an orchard of

'"If I we'se setting cut an orchard of twenty acres I believe I would select the different varieties in about the following proportion: Thompson's improved navels, two acres; Washington navels, eight; Malta Blood, one; large St. Michaels, two; Valencia lates, five; Lisbon and Eureka or Villa Franka lemons, one acre each.

"This is only my idea, and based upon the way I should expect to market the fruit. It may be better for those who expect to upt their crop into an association, or turn it over bodily to some shipper, employing a promise-anything-or-everything sort of agent to growone variety straight—the Washington navel. This would avoid annoyance, perhaps, and as the returns seldom seem to be a factor in such transactions, it would be easier all around. In such cases the grower generally accepts, with a strange sort of gratitude, quite as though he felt that he was just so much ahead, what the shipper in his policy of generosity may dole out to im. As a matter of fact, there is Little else for him to do."—[California Cultivator.

THERE is an unfounded prejudice minds of many farmers. The against ducks and geese in the against ducks and geese in the usual excuse is that they have a habit of puddling in every bit of water they find until they make a mudhole there. Hogs have a similar habit but no one objects to them on that account because the hogs are kept in their places. Mud is not necessary to the happiness of either ducks or hogs. In fact both are better if kept where they cannot make mud.

Ducks should be kept out of the dooryard and they have no place in the barnyard or about the watering troughs of any kind. They are so easily shut out of any place that it is not a hard matter to keep them from getting into mischief. They cannot crawl through a small hole in a fence and if the fence is three feet high they will never get over it. Ducks will drink more water than other kinds of poultry, but they do not need it for any other purpose. If they are given their water in a trough over which slats are nalled to prevent them from getting into the water they will not make any more mud than other fowls. There is some question as to what these are; indeed, this has undergone some radical changes during the recent years.

"Your committee on Christian Beneficence has tried in every way in its power to promote systematic giving in the churches. We are able to report that in a considerable number of our churches there is an earnest effort being made with a good degree of success to place this important department of Christian service upon a true Scrip-Christian service upon a true Scrip tural basis.

"One of the valuable results of sys-tematic giving is that it gradually en-larges the heart of the giver to exer-cise his benevolence. "Your committee considered carefully the proposition to present to the convention a scheme of benevolence, suggesting not only what objects have legitimate claims upon our churches, but gitimate claims upon our churches, but what proportion of our benevolence should be appropriated to each, but decided that for the present at least this matter should be left to the associations and churches with this corrections. ciations and churches with this earnes ecommendation that it receive promi

"Finally we suggest that much may be done in the education of our people upon the general subject of Christian stewardship by pastoral exchange. A new voice can frequently so present an old subject as to give it new life and meaning. An address by a consecrated layman whose pocket-book has been dedicated to the Lord will frequently do more for the cause than a sermon by the pastor. Let the people sermon by the pastor. Mrs. Leonard Merrill, district secretary of Southern California, presented her report for the year showing, a very encouraging condition of the work in the women's field.

Mrs. J. M. Jackson presented her annual report as vice-president of the Southern California convention. She stated that the convention's General Missionary Committee has been the Sunday-schools in the convention district supplied with interesting missionary letters, one each month. They are sent out in the hope that they may be the means of interesting boys and girls and older people as well in missionary work.

Miss Louise Vickroy presented a re-

One of them, who is 18 years old, will graduate from the school in Hemiyi next year. In a recent letter she said: "I want to work for God after I finish the study of this school."

"If you recall a little of the history of, the Indians you know the Kiowas ranged over a large territory of the southwestern part of the United States. They were a warlike tribe. As early as 1843 the United States government tried to make a treaty with them. "In 1876 they were confined in the region of Oklahoma Territory. Up to six years ago very little missionary work was done among them. The Indians had made several appeals to have missionaries sent among them, and the Baptist Home Missionary Society decided to take up the work. Lone Wolf was at that time chief of the Klowas. He promised protection to missionaries if they would come among his people. The work was begun by building the first church at Rainy Mount. The Sunday-school children all over the country assisted in raising money to help along the enterprise. The Indans have taken an active interest in the work, and 150 in all have been converted.

The searcher after news of real. ansactions continues to have a hard me in Los Angeles. There are quite number of small trades made, from a number of small trades made, from week to week, and several large deals have been talked about for some time past, but it seems to be not altogether, an easy thing to bring buyer and seller, together. We shall have to exercise a little more patience, until after the rainy season begins.

POLITICS AND REAL ESTATE.

It might not be supposed that there is much connection between a political campaign and the real estate market; yet, such is a fact. The result of the late State campaign, involving as it did, to some extent, the theory of a new and startling departure in our system of land taxation, has, undoubtedly, here henceful to the real estate.

market. In the East, the campaign has also been recognized as an important factor in the real estate market. In the course of an article on the subject, the New York Mail and Express recently had the following: "Before the State nominations, when everything was uncertain, when there seemed to be no special reason why the Democrats should not repeat their victory of last year, the market was dull and dying. When Roosevelt was nominated, and in the first flush of the triumph of the best elements that his nomination represented, his election was taken as a matter of course, there ensued a remarkable revival in realty dealings. This continued throughout October, but as the campaign advanced, and it was seen that Tammany was making the fight of its life, the market seemed to hesitate; the last week of that month was by no means so fruitful of business as had been the two that preceded it, although it was decidedly satisfactory.

NORTH HILL STREET.

By far the most picturesque street in Los Angeles, within half a mile of the business center, is North Hill street, between First and Temple streets. The street, between these two points, runs over a very steep hill, from which magnificent views of the business section, the southern residence districts, and Boyle Heights, with the Sierra Madre Range to the north, are obtained. Off. in the distance looms up Santa Ana Mountain, and, on a clear day, the outline of Catalina Island is distinctly seen, mearly fifty miles distant.

All this is very interesting and stractive, from an esthetic standpoint, but those who happen to own property, or to reside on North Hill street, or who have occasion to pass over the street, would much prefer if a little modern improvement could be mixed up with the extensive views. North Hill street, between First and Temple streets, is today in the same condition as it was twenty years ago, when Los Angeles was a semi-Mexican pueblo. Since that time, it will be remembered that a good many business blocks have been erected in Los Angeles, and several miles of street have been graded. The march of improvements has, however, carefully avoided this street, and today it looks something like the pictures of the trail from Sicagusy to Lake Bennett, before that trail was improved.

There are some handsome and attractive residences.

like the pictures of the trail from signagusy to Lake Bennett, before that trail was improved.

There are some handsome and attractive residences along the street, between the points named, at the corner of Court street is one of the finest residences in the city, the Bradbury mansion. It is, of course, out of the question to think of putting this street on a traffic grade. The only way to do this would be to cut the entire hill down, a job which we shall way to do this would be to cut the entire hill down, a job which we shall probably have to leave for the next generation. There is, however, no reason whatever, why the street should not be "tidied up" and made at least as deent in appearance as any of the hundreds of miles of streets which the city has graded during the past ten years. It must give strangers a curious opinion of the enterprise of Los Angeles to stumble against a street in this condition, within a scouple of blocks of the business center of a city of 110,000 inhabitants.

A BOOMER GONE.

When the steamer Moheran went

When the steamer Mohegan went down, with most of its unfortunate passengers, off the coast of England, down, with most of its unfortunate passengers, off the coast of England, a few weeks ago, it carried with it one who had played quite a prominent part in the real estate history of Los Angeles during the boom of 1884-88. Among the passengers drowned was Joseph Charles Duncan, his wife and twelve-year-old daughter. Duncan had been a well-known figure in San Francisco before he came to this city, about the year 1880. He had been the cause of the failure of the Pioneer Bank, which involved the ruin of thousands of unfortunate depositors. After spending some time in hiding, he was arrested, tried and acquitted, after which he came to Los Angeles, with a stock of jewelry. He was one of the first, if not the first in Los Angeles, to introduce the idea of selling off residence subdivisions, with a lottery attachment, providing for certain extra choice lots, or perhaps a cottage. The first of his subdivisions was the Childe's fract, on Main and Twelfth streets. The lots were placed on the market, in 1885 or 1886, at $600 aplece, with a chance to draw a lot on Main street. Next came the Urmston tract, in the south-western part of the city near the Happer tract. This was followed by the City Center and Williamson tracts on Pico street. These los were sold at $390 aplece, in monthly payments, with a chance to draw a cottage. Arterward came the Howes tract, and the Jefferson-street fract, far out in the southwestern part of the city.

MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE.

less than 20 per cent of what it now costs to insure in stock companies. Now for the proof.

"These companies charge $1.90 per $100 to insure for thee years. I have paid $48.40 for a policy of $1300 for six years. Several have informed me they have paid out $100 or more in the last ten years. How much of this has been returned to pay losses? I have resided here eleven years, and I know only two or three small ranch buildings being burned in that time, and the loss would not exceed $1200 or $1500, not over 15 or 20 per cent. of what has been paid out; the balance being used to pay agents, officers, etc., and returned here to loan us at 6 to 8 per cent. interest.

"I presume many here who come from the East have been connected with these mutual companies, and realize the saving we might make. It seems to me that considering the hard times and low prices of fruit it will be a great saving to keep this amount of money in the colony. Would be glad to have any interested persons express wheir views through the press or otherwise.

to have any interested persons express their views through the press or otherwise.

"Ithink I will be able to give some reliable statistics in the near future of some such companies in the East and perhaps others can do the same. Let us agitate the question, and be ready in the near future to call a public meeting to discuss it and take such action as is deemed best.

"In addition to the above you will find below some extracts from a letter received from the secretary of the Pattons Mutual Insurance Company of lows county, Iowa:

"We organized in 1874 and the average assessment per year on $1000 insured has been $1.25 per $1000. In year have we paid more than $3 and some years we do not make an assessment for our losses are so small it does not require it.

"We usually speak of an assessment as young many mills on the dollar. In the last three years our assessments have been; first year, I mill; second year, 14 mills; third year, 11 mill; making $34 mills in three years.

"We insure against fire and lightning. We have about eight hundred policies now in force and shout one million three hundred and twenty-seven thousand insured.

"The policy costs $1 or we say the membership fee is $1 and in addition the insured pays 10 cents per hundred or $1 cm a thousand, and this $2 entities to all protection against fire and lightning as long as he keeps his assessments paid up.

"We actually save the amount we long as he keeps his assessments paid up.

We actually save the amount we would have to pay the stock company. For example: To insure $1000 for five years in a stock company would cost $20 (there it would cost $31.66,) to be paid in eash on note at 8 per cent. interest. Now if you would loan the $20 (less the $2 you would pay in our company to become a member) the yearly interest; would be $1.44 or 19 cents more than would pay yearly assessment of $1.25.

"The cost here, $31.66 less $2, equals $29.66 at 8 per cent. would be $2.37, $1.12 per thousand more than enough to pay assessment on mutual plan here. Our losses here would not equal losses there as we need not insure against lightning which causes quite a share of their losses. Brother Rancher, are you ready to organize a Mutual Fire Insurance Company?"

OVERBUILDING.

In comparison with other large cities in the United States. Los Angeles continues to make an excellent showing, in regard to building. The panic of 1893, and the following years of depression, developed that the larger cities of the country were very much overbuilt. Even since this condition became appropriated real estate active. became pronounced, real estate activity and values have been at a low ebb. The majority of the larger cities atinued to build for two or three years after the panic as if there were no limit to the growth of population or the demand for business and pri-vate structures. In the case of St. ouis, the pace was maintained until Louis, the pace was maintained until the close of last year, but this year that city has discovered that it, too, has been overbuilt. The building boom there has collapsed, and real estate and building are as dull in that city as elsewhere. New York, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul have all felt the strain of overbuilding sil felt the strain of overbuilding. all felt the strain of overbuilding. The duliness that has prevailed in real estate and construction matters for three years or more has been felt in the lumber trade, and is likely to be so experienced for some time to come. The Northwestern Lumberman Says:

be so experienced for some time to come. The Northwestern Lumberman says:

"It has become an axiom that real estate is the last material interest to feel the influence of depression after a financial panio, and the last to revive after depression has finally struck it. After manufacture and trade have felt the pinch of retiring money and failing credit, real estate is considered the best form of investment aside from gilt-edge corporate and government securities. But when depression has continued long enough to narrow the scope of business to a hard-times basis, it reduces the demand for rents, drives the people to cheaper and more restricted living business quarters, causes defaults in payment of principal and interest on mortgages, and at length forces many foreclosures.

"When the process reaches this stage, real estate values collapse and duliness in the market is the result. Then it is found that real estate is the most unconvertible asset in the entire list of properties. It is moreover found that the cities have been overbuilt. If additions to structural capacity could be stopped short off when panic comes the greater part of the trouble would be obviated. But for a time building goes right on as before, many putting their means into houses because they have no other use for their money. The result is that while demand for houses has diminished, the number has been increased to a great oversupply. In all the large cities much is counted on from the increase of population as an offset to depressing influences. But while population does increase the people learn to economize and use less room than they were accustomed to in days of prosperity.

new impulse. There must be a recovery of lost ground, profits must accumulate, impaired capital be restored, the savings of the wage-earners must again tend toward the cities before vacant houses can be filled and a new demand for room arise.

"These results have scarcely begun to be in evidence as yet. It is said that in this city less houses by 1000 have been erected this year than in a like portion of 1897. There certainly has been a great falling off in St. Louis. But this decline in structural enterprise may be the very thing that shall induce real estate and building revival later on—perhaps next year. Surplus room will perhaps fill up and demand for properties will increase."

Tests of the liquid in the bottle found with his overcoat failed to reveal the presence of any of the polsons more commonly used to produce death. An examination of the lungs, in the course of an autopsy performed by Dr. Wood, showed that they were filled with water, which fact made it apparent that the man had died by drowning. The jury found that death was produced by "drowning with suicidal intent while temporarily insane."

THE LEMON MARKET. Local buyers are not so keen to take lemons as they were a month ago. Bids are down to $2.50 to $3.00 per box in carload lots. The Fruitman's Guide, published at New York, of November 5, says of a car of California lemons:

"Westfall Bros. & Co. received a car of fabrey packed California lemons, which they sold at auction yesterday at high prices. The fruit was of the 'Highland' brand, packed by A. G. Stearns. This was undoubtedly the finest car of lemons that ever came East of the Mississippi River. Unfortunately the car reached here on a falling lemon market, as fancy fruit from Sicily suffered a decline of $1.00 to $1.50 per box on the same date. Notwithstanding this, however, the fruit sold at prices ranging from $6.12½ to $6.25 per box, averaging in the neighborhood of $4.50 to $4.75 per box. Had this car been here two weeks ago, during the high market, it is estimated that between $7 and $8 per box would have been realized for the fruit."

On the same day the best Sicily lemons sold at $4, and the best Maori at $5.62, against $6.12½ for the best in the California lot. The general average on the California fruit was the highest.

of a new American industry—that of diamond cutting.

DEAR ROPE. An increased demand from Texas and California oil fields has caused considerable activity in the Pittsburgh cordage market. The sales for October were about 4,500,000 pounds at an average retail price of 11 cents. This heavy demand, coupled with the delay in receipts of raw material from Manila, is expected to bring about a sharp advance in price.

SPIRITS FOR JAPAN. Within last week the Standard Distilling Commany sent a special train of twenty-three cars of spirits from Peoria, Ill., to San Francisco, consigned to the Japanese government, which will use it in the manufacture of smokeless powder. The shipment made nearly 1,000,000 gallons, and paid over $1,000,000 tax. Two more large shipments for Japan had been ordered for early in the month.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS. The commerce between this country and China grew from $8,117,059 in 1893

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

The cold nights have made themselves felt in the regetable and fresh-fruit markets. Growth has been checked, and receipts are very small. There is a fairly good demand, monthy local, but some kinds are needed to fill eastern orders. All the regetable list is firm excepting turnips, which are coming in more freely and are cheaper. Cabbage is very much dearer. Tomatoes, summer squash and cucumbers are all higher. Hubbard squash is at its prime at 1 cent per pound.

Berries are very scarce, and fancy grade command extreme prices. Figs are nearly all gone, and for what is coming in prices are higher. Grapes are getting scarce and prices are very high for this section. But elsewhere, a 40-lb. box of fine Malaga grapes at $1 would not be high in the middle of November. Winter Nellis pears at $1.25 to $1.35.

Guava berries are higher.

Quinces are out.

Crasterries are 60 cents a barrel dearer, the demand being good for Thanksgiving day trade.

Bananas are getting scarce and prices are $2 cents a bunch higher. It is feared that there may be none here for Thanksgiving. Valencia oranges. Old crop. are getting scarce, and are dearer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The results of today's stock market operations were rather inconclusive, except in so far as they showed a continued lively interest on the part of the outside public in securities of all grades. As far as prices are concerned, net changes are rather mixed, though the majority are on the side of gains, and those in some cases amount to 1 per cent or over. The early period of the market showed the heavy offerings to realize which are at all times usual in the upward course of a real bull market. "The fiftieth amiversary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, recently passed without special observance, again brings to public notice the extent and importance of this corporation. Organized in 1846." says the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh within six years. Today it controls 3000 miles of line and represents a combination of corporations which have $834,000,000 capital. In 1852 it transported about 70,000 tons of freight—less than it now moves every twenty-four hours. From 500,000 passengers in the same year it now carries annually 75,000,000. Its locomotives have increased from 50 to nearly 3500, its cars from 1000 to 141,000, constituting a train, if placed together, 1000 miles long. These figures tell the story of its development far more forcibly than volumes of other description. From $400,000, which it paid in wages in 1852, its annual pay roll has increased to $40,000,000. or over $100,000 daily. This vest sum is distributed to nearly 100,000 employés.

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 17.—[Regular Correspondence.] In response to a call by the School Trustees, a meeting was held at the San Marcos High School building last evening, when the taxpayers discussed with the officials the need of a suitable high school structure, the feasibility of sufficient bonding of the city for the purpose, and choosing a convenient location. The expression of the meeting was unanimous as to the willingness of the people to be taxed to the necessary amount, whether it be fifty thousand dollars or more. No definite action

Two Resignations Accepted.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 17.—[Regular Correspondence.] There has been a sweeping change in the Board of School Trustees. R. M. Lynn and H. C. Dillon have resigned and their resignations have been accepted. R. A. Dunbar and E. W. Fortune have been appointed to fill the vacancies, and they are to serve till next June, when two Trustees are to be elected. In giving his reasons for his resignation, Mr. Dillon declared that he thought that such opposition to himself had been engendered as to endanger the welfare of the schools. Mr. Dillon also referred to the recent vote on a proposed issue of $10,000 worth of school bonds, which vote stood 151 against to 149 in favor of issuance. That vote, he thought, turnished no basis for carrying out the improvements that he deemed necessary. In presenting his resignation Mr. Lynn stated that he did so because of lack of time to attend to the duties of the position

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF COMPLAINING WITNESS.

Case Against Hotel Mitchell Could Not Be Tried-Critical Illness of City Attorney W. E. Arthur, Stricken With Paralysis, Now Unconscious-University Exten-sion-The Pioneers.

PASADENA, Nov. 17.—[Regular Correspondence.] An important hearing was set for today in Justice Rossiter's court, the case against N. H. Mitchell, proprietor of Hotel Mitchell, on the charge of selling whisky. The complainant was A. D. Bowman, who came into the City Marshal's office one night in October and signed a declaration that he had bought a bottle of liquor from Mitchell. The hearing has been postponed again on account of the mysterious disappearance of Bowman.

A jury had been summoned for the case and the venire was called this morning. All were present except the complaining witness. The attorney for the respondent, R. H. Knight, demanded a trial, saying his cilent was ready to proceed. Acting City Attorney Wright asked for a postponement on account of Bowman's absence, and the case was continued till next Tuesday morning. Attorney Wright soored Bowman for having made such a complaint and failed to back it up. Howman called on the City Marshal a few days ago and remarked that in his opinion "it would be better for all concerned it the case were hushed up out of court." Incidentally he offered to borrow $3 of the Marshal.

CITY ATTORNEY ARTHUB STRICKEN,

CITY ATTORNEY ARTHUR STRICKEN,
W. E. Arthur, City Attorney of Pasadena, and a practicing lawyer in Los Angeles, who has been in poor health for several moaths, was strickes with paralysis this morning, and now lies in a very critical condition at his home in this city. He came from Los Angeles early last evenng and ate a hearty dinner. Soon after 7 o'clock this morning he complained that his head feit as if it would burst, and asked for some hot water. This was provided and his physician summoned, but before the doctor arrived he sank into an unconscious state.

Mr. Arthur's right side is entirely paralyzed, he cannot speak, and there is doubt as to whether he has been aware of anything since morning. His condition has not changed much during the day, or evening, though a sharp watch has been kept for some sign or rallying. His physician says it is impossible to forecast the result. Mr.
Arthur is 33 years old, of full habit, and until within a few months past he has been robust. He was chairman of the Republican State Convention a few years ago, and took a very active part in the recent political campaign. He took very little care of his health, going without alsep and keeping irreguar hours. This broke him down and health, going without sites and remains

PIONEERS' ASSOCIATION.

PIONEERS' ASSOCIATION.

A preliminary meeting of the founders of Pasadena for the purpose of forming a pioneers' association was held this aftermoon in the Board of Trade rooms. Thomas Banbury, who constructed the first irrigating ditch, presided, and M. Rosenbaum, one of Pasadena's first merchants, was secretary. Eleven gentlemen were present, and they voted to hold a meeting December 1 to elect officers. It was on Novmber 13, 1574, that the San Gabriel Orange Grove Association was started, and on December 13 it was incorporated. The next January the pioneers picked out their lots. The first house was built at once by A. O. Bristol, now a Pasadena policeman, who was one of the leaders in the settlement, and the building still stands near his present residence.

One of the objects of the proposed association is to make arrangements for a suitable celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Pasadena's birth. There has been some discussion as to what date should be observed, but there is a strong desire to have the celebration carried out in connection with the Tournament of Roses on New Year's day.

Killed His Brother-in-law After Great Provocation-No Consoli-dation of Water Companies Cronado's Dinner Parties.

SAN DIEGO. Nov. 17.—(Regular Correspondence.) Word has been received here of the arrest of David S. Renfrew, formerly of this city, at Glasgow. Scotland, on the charge of murder. Renfrew shot and killed his brother-in-law. John M. McLaren, Renfrew worked here as a bartender for about two years, up to last May, when he returned to Scotland. He found that his brother-lalaw. John M. McLaren, had wasted a fortune of $15,000 left to Renfrew's sister, and had mistreated the woman. In addition to that, McLaren had forced his wire's brother to support him, and had then been too familiar with his wife's unmarried sister. Renfrew, it is stated, was so incensed at discovering this state of affairs that he ordered McLaren away from the house, and threatened to kill him on sight. They met at the head of the stairs one day, and Renfrew proceeded to carry out his threat. He shot McLaren five times, and caused his death within two minutes.

Renfrew then went out and tried to commit suicide by cutting his throat, but did not succeed. Then he jumped into a stream and tried to drown himself, but could not. As he was crawling out of the water he was arrested and placed in jail. Renfrew bore a good reputation while here.

POMONA, Nov. 17.—[Regular Coerrspondence.] The first annual meeting of the California Spanish Missionary Society began at $2.30 o'clock this morning in the Baptist Church. It is the first meeting of the society, and has been gratifying in attendance and interest. Addresses were made in English and in Spanish, the Spanish addresses being translated. For one young man who wishes to attend school to fit himself for mission work, but lacks funds, a liberal collection was taken up. Rev. A. B. Case, who has been the moving spirit in the organization, gave an extended report of the work done in the field.

In the afternoon Dr. C. G. Baldwin of Claremont gave "A Historic Sketch of the Mexicans in California," and Rev. J. C. Rollins of San Bernardino spoke on the aims of the society. Schorita Ortega sang at both sessions, and will sing tonight. A good programme has been prepared for the evening session, at which there will doubtless be a large attendance. This interdenominational society was organized only last year, and has for its purpose the evangelization of the Spanish-speaking people of this coast.

Mention was made in this column some few weeks ago of the reported discovery of rich placer diggings near Lake Atlin in British Columbia. First reports have since been confirmed and only last week Arthur Vinnett, a resident of this city who started for the Klondike on August 1, 1897, but who did not go through, returned to Los Angeles from the Atlin fields. He remained there until the close of the season, September 15, and from there came direct to this city. He brought back with him a considerable quantity of gold and will return there, where he has four claims, early next spring. Respecting these same fields the Tacoma Ledger lately published an extended report in which taffirmed, basing its statement on results already obtained, that Atlin would prove to be richer than the Klondike. Lake Atlin is only about one hundred miles from Skaguay and one great advantage it possesses over the Klondike region is that if can be reached any time in the year. e Revelations of the Domestic Difficulties of the Casebeer Family-Son Bruce's Testimony Defendant Himself on the Wit-

Inless the unexpected happens, Isaac Williams will know before noon to-whether he shall be tried for asult to murder his father-in-lew, J.

Casebeer. The defense had all its dence in before 5 o'clock yesterday

The witnesses were not pres-t then, so an adjournment was taken Ill 8 o'clock this morning, when the ng testimony will be taken and given by her on the previous day was unshaken.

At yesterday's session of the court, Mrs. Williams was cross-examined at length by Mr. Shinn, but the testimony given by her on the previous day was unshaker.

Bruce Casebeer, son of J. W. Casebeer, gave testimony reflecting very severely on his father and giving further confirmation of the unlovely relations that have existed for years between the old man and his children. He testified that previous to the alleged assauk his father had told him in Santa Barbara that Williams and his wife should never get a cent from him in the sult that they had commenced against him for damages, and that he would shoot Ben's entrails out and put Kit (Mrs. Williams) in the penitentiary before he would pay them anything. Witness admitted that he had used harsh language against his father. He said he did not like the old man and his sympathies were with the rest of the family. The young man's testimony did not shed any light on the tragedy of the night of October 9, 1897, but it revealed the family skeletons in all their hideousness.

J. W. Casebeer had confided some of his troubles, related a conversation she had had with him subsequent to the alleged assault. He told her in this interview that he believed his assailants were I.

B. Williams and his sister, Miss Frances Williams. Casebeer, during the present examination, himself testified that he believed Williams's accomplice to have been Mrs. Rosa Rogers, Casebeer's eldest daughter.

Lotos Rogers, a charming girl of 14 years, daughter of Mrs. Rosa Rogers and granddaughter of old man Casebeer, testified as to the events at the Williams home on the night of the transedy. She, too, seemed to "have it he defense.

The last witness of the day was Wiliams, the defendant himself. He got adiy rattled on cross-examination and ave a good deal of his testimony in a estitating manner. He was very rarded in his remarks, however, and id not contradict himself to any seritale extent. His memory was not as ood as that of some of the other witesses as to the events of the night of tober 9, 1897, but he was positive that a did not see nor hear of Casebeer

Justice Morrison wanted to hold an

SIXTH WARD RALLY.

REPUBLICAN VOTERS HOLD AN EN THUSIASTIC MEETING.

innicipal Campaign is Now Well Under Way-Walter Haas Dis-cusses the Water Question-Other Candidates Speak.

A big Republican meeting was held last night in the Sixth Ward, at Masomic Hall, the corner of Main and Thirtieth streets. Several candidates on the Republican municipal ticket were present and made addresses on the issues of the campaign. The speakers were received with an enthusiasm that is an earnest of the most satisfactory result in the forthcoming election. The hall was filled to overflowing and the audience was unstituted in the applause accorded the various nominees.

Inactory result in the forthcoming election. The hall was filled to overflowing and the audience was unstinted in the applause accorded the various nominees.

The first address was made by L. R. Garrett. He did not enter into a discussion of the issues of the campaign, but briefly urged the voters not to neglect their duty at the polls on election day. While the Republicans are very confident of a walk-over, he said they must not underestimate the strength of the opposition. Overconfidence might result in defeat.

Ben E. Ward, Republican nominee for Assessor, reiterated the argument of Mr. Garrett relative to the necessity for the party turning out a full attendance at the polls. He said he wanted the Republican votes to elect him as City Assessor. He believed the experience which he had had qualified him for the work Mr. Ward promised if elected to administer his office uprightly and see that all get a fair assessment.

Ed Carson, candidate for City Auditor, said he had had ten years' experience as a book-keeper. For the last four years he kept the books of the County Board of Supervisors. He promised if elected to give the city a clean administration.

Will White, nominee for City Tax and License Collector, was enthusiastically received. He said he feels he has ability to properly conduct the office to which he aspires to be elected. T. S. Martindale, nominee for City Clerk, said he would endeavor, if elected, to conduct his office satisfactorily to all the people all the time.

W. A. Hartwell, the Republican candidate for reflection as City Treasurer, said he wanted to see every Republican nominee for City that the record of his service in the capacity to which he aspires to be reflected.

John Drain, nominee for reflection as Street Superintendent, said he was making his campaign without promises of what he would do if reflected. He was running on his record, and if that had not been satisfactory he did not want to be reflected.

Walter Haas, the Republican nominee for City Attorney, made the principal spee pany's plant. What has all this talk amounted to? What have the Demorats done? Gentlemen, the laws of the United States provide against the confiscation of property. Such a course as the Democrats advocated, if it had been followed, would have involved the city in damage suits that would have wrecked its finances.

"This great question paceds colors."

been followed, would have involved the city in damage suits that would have wrecked its finances.

"This great question needs calm, judicious management. Political claptrap does not go in a court of law. Contracts are stubborn facts, and this fight has got to be fought out on a legal ground, with a proper observance of the technicalities of the law. It is a right of the people that the water of this city should be controlled by the city. If elected to the office of City Attorney I shall strive to enforce every right of the people."

Other speakers were as follows: Frank Olmstead, nominee for City Engineer; Dr. Edmonds, nominee for member of the City Council from the Sixth Ward; Charles Udeil, nominee for member of the Board of Education from the Sixth Ward; Judge Gooding, and L. H. Valentine.

Republican meetings will be held this evening in the Second ward meeting will be held in Boutilier's Hall. The speakers will be N. P. Conrey. Charles H. Toll, Walter Haas, Will White, T. D. Martindale, Ed Carson, Fred Baker and Will Chambers. The Eighth Ward mass meeting will he held at No. 232 Aliso street, in Painter's Hall, Judge H. C. Gooding, L. R. Garrett, Ben Ward, John Drain, Frank Olmstead, W. A. Hartwell and Will H. Stearns will seak.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE.

envitor Ledge Tells What it Musi-Look to the Government to Do. [A. F. KARLY MORNING REPORT.] Boston, Nev. II.—Senator Lodge in an ddress at the Boston Boot and Shoe Club's banquet last night said among other things:

other things:

"I come now to what I think the government ought to do. The success of the English speaking race which has carried it all over the world and made it the great industrial and commercial people of the earth today, has been due to the principle of self help. But there are certain things which the spirit of American enterprise must look to the government to do. You cannot expect men to carry your products and to extend your trade by establishing themselves in a distant portion of the earth, unless you have a government that is ready to protect them at all times and at all hazards. We want no commerce at the cannon's mouth, but we do want it understood that wherever an American is engaged in business, there he is to be protected, and that there is a navy, of the United Stafes big enough to guard him wherever he sees fit to go. Therefore, I say we need a large navy as a protection to commerce on the sea as well as on land.

larger one than what we shall do with the Philippines. They say we are not an Eastern power unless we hold those islands. We are today the greatest power in the Pacific Ocean. We hold one entire side of that ocean, except the buttet which England has in China. We hold the half way house in Honolulu, where all ships must stop when the Nicaragua Canal is built, as it will be. Are we going to stand up and say with England and Japan, the ports of the east to be closed to us and open to Russia, France and Germany alone? Or are we going to stand up and say with England and Japan, the ports of China must be closed to all or they must be open to all?

"It is going to be a struggle, in my judgment, between the maritime nations. It is going to be a struggle to see whether the people who speak the English tongue are to go to the wall, or whether they are to have their share in the commerce of the earth wherever they fly their flag. I believe that the United States is entitled to its share of the world's commerce. I do not believe that there is the least danger of war anywhere if we are far-sighted enough to make it known to the world into the world on the
